POLITICAL NOTES.

—Every White Leaguer is a Democrat, and wants a Democratic victory in Pennsylvania.

—A sure way to provoke a Louisiana outbreak in every Southern State is to give the Democracy a victory in November.

—Maine, Speaker Blaine's State, has gone Republican in a handsome majority of about 12,000. We like to "look at" Maine.

—"Oh, have you heard the news from Maine?" It grows better and better. Governor Dingley's majority is now 11,112, or two thousand better than last year.

—Mackey, Wallace and Shugert, banks, railroads and monopolies, arn't these nice men, to represent an agricultural district? If the grangers mean business they will squelch that ring.

—Unsuspecting countrymen who go to Democratic mass-meetings and drink in every word from stump speakers' lips should take warning. A boy died in New York last week from drinking lye.

—The World says that the New Orleans "uprising" has no "parallel" in American history. The World is mistaken. The treason of Benedict Arnold, and the treachery of Jefferson Davis, each equal it.

—The New Orleans Times calls it "Grant's Navy," in speaking of the expected arrival of three United States naval vessels. The devotion and loyalty of the Democratic press of Louisiana to the United States Government is remarkable.

—Under the provisions of the new Democratic Constitution of Arkansas, the enormous sum of sixty-two and a half cents per annum for each person is given to provide for "a general, suitable and efficient system of free schools." Comment is unnecessary.

—It is not exactly fair to talk about the cowardice of the negro police of New Orleans. The rapid manner in which McEnery and Penn surrendered their swords to General Emory, shows that some white people thought discretion the better part of valor.

—It seems to be the idea of some people, that there is no one suitable to go to the Legislature unless he be from Bellefonte. We hope the people outside the county seat, will insist upon their rights, and make Bellefonte take a back seat for at least one year.

—Some of our Democratic State exchanges actually profess to believe that Justus F. Temple will be the next Auditor General of the Commonwealth. That temple is just as likely to be struck by lightning on election day, and his qualifications are about on a par with his prospects.

—Marshal Packard, of New Orleans, is not disposed to rest under the imputations of Senator Schurz. He inquires, in a letter to General Emory, whether he ever even sought to use troops for political purposes, and the reply is that he did not, and could not had he so desired. The old falsehood that troops are, or have been used for political purposes is now so thoroughly exploded that it is time it became permanently quiet.

—Montgomery Blair having been defeated for the nomination for Congress in Maryland because he was "not Democratic to the core." Mr. Blair will probably henceforth act with the Republicans, with whom he largely sympathizes. He says the Democrats are bigoted and non-progressive. They have not advanced a step in forty years, and as they have no leaders they are not likely to advance in forty years to come.

—A Democratic victory in Pennsylvania this fall, or, indeed, in any other Northern State, would unquestionably be accepted by the rebellious element of Louisiana as an indication of sympathy in their behalf. It must be made perfectly clear to them, and to the reactionists of the entire South, who are so fond of "biding their time," that their time is never to come. The best way, as we have repeatedly pointed out, to effect this desirable end, is to defeat the Northern Democracy, upon whom they so strongly rely for aid.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

Although we were aware for months before the conferrees met that it had been decided by the small ring of wire pullers who control the democratic organization to nominate Mackey for Congress, Wallace for the Senate, and Orvis for Judge, yet we watched the movements with no little interest, wondering if they would dare to disregard the wishes of a large portion of their constituents who had joined the grangers, and had expressed their disapproval of the continuation of the old policy of nominating men for office who are in the interest of the banks, railroads and the monopolies. But the job was "set up" and carried out, and evidently these men either rely for success upon party discipline or the old dodge of pretending that they are so public spirited that they will go directly contrary to their own interests, and act for the people, or else they regard the grangers so insignificant as not to be worthy of consideration.

That there is some reason in believing that some one of the influences above ennumerated may result to their advantage we must admit. Time and again have the farmers and laboring men protested that their interests were not represented, and made serious threats of what they would and could do. Yet, when the nominations were made and some millionaire or bank president, or railroad man, or some one who never had been a producer, or been identified with the producing classes, and whose interests were all at variance with theirs, was put in nomination on the silly plea that no one was so well qualified or could command so many votes, these very men have been the first to throw up their hats and shout themselves hoarse over "these faithful friends of the people" i. e. monopolies. So long as the farmers will be deceived in this way to support men, who, from the very nature of their business and associations cannot understand fully the wants and needs of the producing classes, just so long will they be outwitted, and in the long run beaten; and when the screws are put on again after this present popular uprising has died out, they will twist them just a little tigher to make up for the losses they have sustained. If the farmers desire to gain any lasting good from the movement in which they are now engaged they must leave their impress upon the legislation of the State, and in order to do this they must elect men to office who understand their wants, and whose interests are identified with theirs. How long will the people elect men to office, which every deduction of common sense should teach them, cannot and will not advance their interests? Is there any one who honestly believes that L. A. Mackey will, or can represent the interests of the laboring and producing classes? He belongs to that class which has no interest in common with the farmers, of that class which produces nothing, but lives from the products of the farm and the labor of the artizan, without giving anything in return; a money lender, a note shaver of the same kith and kin with those whom Christ in his indignation cast out of the temple. Suppose any legislation comes up where the interest of the National banks shall conflict with that of the farmer and laborer, what position would Mackey be likely to assume? Does any one believe he would side with the people and against his own interest and the National banks? How foolish then for the farmers and laboring men to support such candidates! Why not vote for farmers and men whose associations are closely allied to the farming interests? What gave Coffee Pot Wallace a perpetual lease to a seat in the Senate? Are there none others in this senatorial district capable to represent the people? If the people really had had anything to do with nominating this man, and were acquainted with the true reason that calls for his re-election a fifth time they would know that it was because he had a railroad job on hand which could be best served by his being in the Senate. What a faithful friend of the people, i. e. himself!

Here is a man worth nearly a million of money, not a dollar of it earned by farming, the president of a railroad, an arristocrat, closely identified with the very monopolies which have in past and will in the future oppress the people. How can the democracy give a plausible pretext for forcing him again upon the people of this agricultural, mining, and manufacturing district.

P. Gray Meek, during his connection with the State Legislature, did many things deserving of censure, but with all his corruption and association with corruptionists, he accomplished more for the farming interest of Centre county in four years than Wallace has done in twelve years of senatorial labor. And why? Not because he was more honest, but because he stood closer to the people, and understood better their wants and needs.

Now if the Grangers mean anything they will vote against all such men, and whether they are in earnest or not we shall soon know.

——The following is said to be the best plan on record for preserving cider sweet:

"When the cider in the barrel is undergoing a lively fermentation, add as much white sugar as will be equal to half or three quarters of a pound to each gallon of cider, and let the fermentation proceed until the liquid attains the right taste to suit, then add an eight to a quarter of an ounce of sulphite (not sulphate) of lime to each gallon of cider in the cask, first mixing the powder in about a quart of the cider, and then pouring it back into the cask, and giving it a thorough shaking or rolling. After standing bunged up for a few days, for the matter added to become incorporated with the cider, it may be bottled for use from the cask." The foregoing plan is recommended solely to keep the cider sweet.

"When the first fermentation is over, rack it off into clean barrels through a filter made by taking a round wooden box, made of inch pine plank, three feet in diameter, and one foot four inches deep; perforate its bottom with numerous one quarter inch auger holes, over which should be laid course hemp bagging. Fill in the box for eight inches with pieces of charcoal—animal charcoal is the best—about nut size, and on the top of this place a four-inch layer of clear washed sand, and cover all with coarse hemp bagging. The cloth can be frequently washed without disturbing the sand and charcoal. Before any cider is filtered through, pass a stream of clear water into the filter for fifteen minutes, so as to remove any fine, loose particles of charcoal that otherwise would be mixed with the cider."

—The Democratic Banner says "that when such men as L. A. Mackey, will accept office," there is some hope left for the Republic. Y-e-s we rather like that. Would it not do as well to put it in this way? Some hope left for oppressive monopolies, no hope for the people; but then no harm done, he won't be elected. The Democratic farmers and laboring men of this district, are not so unmindful of there interest as to elect this Bank King.

—One of the provisions of the Arkansas Constitution of 1865 prohibited the Legislature of that State from ever making "compensation for emancipated slaves." In the new Constitution recently framed by the Bourbons of that State, this provision is stricken out. And the inquiry is very pertinent: Why?

——We have received the first copy of The Milton Paper published by John G. Kurtz, Esq., formerly editor of the Central Press, published in this place. Mr. Kurtz is a native of this county and is a first class printer and gentleman, but his paper is the tiniest little sheet we ever saw. Four pages of four columns each, and the latter an inch and a quarter wide by seven inches long. It is printed in a very tasteful manner and has a healthy lot of advertisments. We hope Kurtz will make his fortune in this new enterprize.

——Seven Centre County brass bands will compete for a silver horn on Thursday, but we don't know how they'll get the judges without summoning a coroner's inquest.

OUR ASSOCIATED PRESS LETTER.

PHILADELPHIA, October 6, 1874.

BOGUS INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Commissioner Foster has been snatching the bogus insurance companies of this city, "bald-headed," as the boy of the period expresses it, and the People's Insurance Company, and Central have been compelled to "step down and out." The Secretary of one has stepped out of the country, and I think Mr. Foster will cause the President of the other to step into the penitentiary for raising one thousand dollars' worth of railroad stock to make it represent $128,000 in value. The Safeguard has, for want of a certificate of good character, ceased to do business. It is safe to guard against insuring in any of the aforementioned.

An attempt was made by the commissioners of Massachusetts and New York to give the Penn Fire a "black eye." As this company has many risks throughout this and other states, I have, for the benefit of those insured in it, closely scrutinized its affairs, and as a correspondent who cannot afford to make a mistake in so important a matter as this, I unhesitatingly assert that the Penn Fire Insurance Company of Philadelphia, is entirely solvent and fully able to pay its losses; its President, Fielding L. Williams, is a most sensitive and honorable gentleman, is very wealthy and would spent his last dollar to meet the obligations of his company, rather than have his honor tarnished. Such gentlemen as Thos. Blakemore of the old firm of Garretson, Blakemore & Co., and Andrew Moore of the firm of John Gibson, Sons & Co., who are directors, cannot afford to be officially connected with a corporation that is not all it represents itself to be. To my readers who have their insurance in this company, let me say that their risks are perfectly safe, the company is making money and the attempt of the two commissioners to discount it in public estimation has fallen short of its purpose.

The Illinois commissioner has just concluded an examination of this company's affairs and is well pleased with its condition.

AN ERROR.

I undertook in my letter of last week to demonstrate the advantages resulting from liberally patronizing the newspapers published in the country, by showing that from $24.67—the amount of the first day's business of Wanamaker & Brown of this city—they had, by the most liberal advertising in the city and country papers, exceeded $25,000 a day, and that their sales averaged ten thousand dollars for each working day of the year. The types made the average $1,000 a day. In 1872 their sales amounted to $1,500,000, and my error put their total sales for last year at only $300,000, whereas it was intended in round figures to be $3,000,000.

If an enterprising merchant in Chambersburg were to go to the offices of the Valley Spirit, Repository and Public Opinion and insert a triple column advertisement in these papers, and place a whole page "adver" in the smaller papers of the county, and follow it up week after week, he would be doing that which would probably secure him the patronage of every man in the county, and of hundreds outside of it. This is about what Mr. Wanamaker does in nearly a score of daily papers in this city, and the probable result will he that between this and March next be will sell two million dollars' worth of clothing.

A SCIENTIFIC EXHIBITION.

The exhibition which opens in this city on the 6th of October, under the auspices of the Franklin Institute, will be remarkable, more particularly for the display of machinery, which, for the number of pieces on exhibition will excel anything of the kind ever presented for public inspection. The most marked advancement in skilled mechanism, during the last fifteen years, has taken place in the United States, and the improvement in American machinery has been most notable during the last five years, and within the next five years the power and range of machinery will be so enormously increased and its application so completely systematized that even the creative mind of the American versed in dynamics, will regard with surprise the inventive genius or his countrymen.

The Vienna Exhibition taught Germany and France, that England has lost her prestige as the leading country in the manufacture of machine industry and motive power; and all European nations—including England—are looking to America to supply them with machinery, requiring the highest order of constructive ability and perfect workmanship in its manufacture. Believing that nothing I can write will more interest the reader than descriptions of the most wonderful pieces of machine industry on exhibition here, I purpose giving short sketches of the most notable and worthy of them in subsequent letters.

The Franklin Institute has done a wise thing in placing the restaurant of the Exhibition building under the charge of Mr. Jas. W. Parkinson. This gentleman is an American, and when hungry visitors to the exhibition call for a mutton chop he will not bring it in under a French alias of "Cotelettes de Mouton," and charge for the alias the exorbitant rates of Proskauer.

SHARP-SHOOTERS.

Our Celtic associations are making ready to receive the Lord Mayor of Dublin and the Irish riflemen who accompany him. These marksmen have had a little shooting match with the American riflemen and were beaten. The match consisted of six men on each side who were to fire 15 shots each at 800, 900 and 1000 yards range, making 45 shots for each man. The targets were 6 feet high, 12 feet long, having a bull's eye 3 feet square in the midst of a 6 feet square centre. A bull's eye hit counted 4 shots, centres 3 points and outers two. The result of the match stood:

	800yds.	900yds.	1000yds.	Total.
Americans,	326	310	299	934
Irish,	317	312	302	921

Doubtless many of my country readers are in the habit of knocking a squirrel's eye out at 100 yards range. Let them try shooting at a 3 feet square target 1,000 yards distant, which is considerably more than half a mile, and see whether out of 15 shots they can hit it ten times as two of the Irishmen did, or eleven times out of fifteen as one of the Americans did.

THE CENTENNIAL.

Since my last letter the Government of Salvador has accepted the President's invitation to take part in the Exhibition. The Gautemalian Commission has been instructed to assist in the arrangement of articles for exhibition from their country and has already made the acquaintance of the Centennial Commissioners.

Northampton County, this state, has had two meetings at Bethlehem, to make arrangements for raising the quota of money assigned to that county, Dr. Henry Coppee, President of Lehigh University, presided at the meetings.

Venango County has taken similar steps to raise her quota. Hon. John S. Calmont presided, and Delaware County holds an immense meeting at Media on the 15th inst. to raise her assigned amount, which I predict will be done within sixty days.

The Government of Russia will be represented by the Grand Duke Vladimir, son of the Czar, next to Alexis. He will be accompanied by a corps of 18 Nobles, all covered with gold lace, medals and Russian insignia.

STATE ITEMS.

—The Topton furnace, on the East Penn Railroad, has been blown in.

—An unknown man was found dead on the railroad track on Williamsport, on Monday night.

—A family in Johnstown owns a towel which is three hundred years old, and still as good as when woven.

—Mrs. E. E. Henderson, arrested for killing her husband with an ax, died in the Erie jail on Tuesday morning.

—The Erie County Teachers' Institute will commence on the 16th of November, and will be held at North East.

—The fall races of the Greenville Driving Park Association will not take place as advertised, on account of the purses not being filled.

—Last week 656 tons of steal rails were rolled at the Pennsylvania Steel Works, Baldwin. This unprecedented achievement was accomplished in sixty-nine hours.

—An old woman named Betsey York is in jail for attempting to burn Turkey Run City. She had frequently threatened to set fire to the place, and eventually tried it and was caught.

—On the 22nd of October next the reunion of the Forty-seventh Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers will be held in Allentown, and anticipations are entertained af an occasion of unusual interest.

—The Reading Eagle says the Schuylkill fairly swarms with black bass. It thinks that at the "Big Dam," three miles below Reading, not less than 1,100 pounds have been caught with hook and line this season.

—The falling off in the shipment of iron from the Lake Superior region for the season now closing, as compared with last year, is 232,790 tons; the amount shipped in 1872 being 866,763 tons, against 633,983, up to September 30th of the present year.

—The Berks county wild man, who haunts the mountain in the neighborhood of Swatara Gap has been seen again. He is said to be over seven feet high, with face and body covered with hair, walks on his hands and feet like a beast, and jumps ten feet at a time with apparent ease.

—Dr. Lewis Sauters arrived in Allentown last April, and advertised himself as a physician recently returned from Europe. One day last week a Syracruse, New York, detective arrived in this city in search of Lewis Sauters, a painter, who had forged a $1,200 check, and arrested the bogus doctor.

—The demand for coke seems to have improved very much during the last month, the shipment from Mt. Pleasant and southwestern branches ave raging over two hundred cars per day. The prices are from two and three-quarters to three cents, which is too low to stimulate a large production.

—Philadelphia has a new public institution for the benefit of the oppressed sex—the Gynæcological Hospital. The difference between a Gynæcological and a woman's hospital is that the former confines itself to the specific treatment of diseases peculiar to woman, and the latter extends its treatment to sick women of all descriptions.

—In its review of the lumber trade the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin says: From the first of January up to this date, the shipments foot up a total of 185,681,339 feet; for the same period last year they were in excess of this amount 1,874,151 feet. Of the quantity that has gone forward this year, Catawissa road has transported 78,327,640 feet requring the use of 8,173 cars; the Philadelphia and Erie 57,259,184 feet, requiring 5,982 cars, and the canal has forwarded 552 boat loads, aggregating 50,094,514 feet. Lock Haven and other points, as high up as Renova, have sent 32,445,900 feet to market. From points on the Northern Central Railroad, between Williamsport and Troy, 2,122,040 feet have been moved during the same period. Between Lock Haven and this city the shipments by canal reach 3,327,652 feet, making a grand total of 230,586,930 feet passing through and from Williamsport for the season.

THE FAIR.—We are unable at this writing (Tuesday morning) to give anything like a fair estimate of the agricultural exhibition this year. The prospects and appearances however are decidedly flattering. The grounds are in thorough repair, the buildings and sheds having been completely overhauled and the race course put in excellent condition. As early as Saturday morning there were a number of people on the grounds making arrangements for housing stock, and other kindred business. The managers were busy yesterday in completing matters generally for the expected inflowing of to-day, and by the time this reaches the public, we believe the largest and best agricultural exhibition that the society has ever given, will be in full display. The number of entries made at the Secretary's office up to Monday evening was greatly in advance of previous years. The amusement department under the excellent management of Major Thomas A. Hicks, as will be seen by reference to schedule in another column, promises to be the attractive feature of the week. We notice a number of horseman from other counties with their trotting stock on hand and some lively racing may be expected. Professor W. H. Renner, of Altoona, will arrive this morning with his balloon and the ascension on Friday afternoon is positively assured. Should the weather be favorable, this will be a lively week for Bellefonte.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

Poetry.

IT IS JUST THE SAME AS IT USED TO BE.

The girls are planing to get a beau;
They dress for party and ball and show,—
And the old folks tell us it wasn't so
When they were young and used to go!
But the difference is no more nor less
Than a little change in the style of dress!
And human nature itself, you see,
Is just the same as it used to be!

After the verses and prayers are said,
The old folks light the boys to bed,
And they lie as still as though they were dead,
'Till daddy goes off to his dreams instead,
Then down the back stairs—so sly and slow,
With their boots in their hands—and away they go,
And the old man laughs in the morning to see;
It is just the same as it used to be!

Those good old maids are waiting yet—
Over love affairs they froth and fret—
Of girls they never saw such a set—
Every one is a silly coquette!
But if backward something like forty years
They would carry their meddlesome eyes and ears,
In flirts and freaks of their own they'd see
It's just the same as it used to be!

Of course to the aged 'tis right to hold
The years they were happy, the best that rolled,
But the truth is plain and ought to be told,
That the world grows better in growing old;
And only love in its show and flame
Is ever changing and yet the same—
Freaks of fashion and charm you see,
But it's just the same as it used to be!

"LETTING THE OLD CAT DIE."

Not long ago I wandered near
A play-ground in the wood,
And there heard words from a youngster's lips
That I've never quite understood.

"Now let the old cat die," he laughed:
I saw him give a push,
Then gaily scamper away, as he spied
My face peep over the bush.

But what he pushed, or where he went,
I could not well make out,
On account of the thicket of bending boughs
That bordered the place about.

"The little villian has stoned a cat,
Or hung it upon a limb,
And left it to die all alone," I said.
"But I'll play the mischief with him."

I forced my way between the boughs,
The poor old cat to seek:
And what did I find, but a sunny child,
With her bright hair brushing her cheek.

Her bright hair flirted to and fro,
With the rose-light in her face.
She seemed like a bird and a bower in one,
And the forest her native place.

"Steady, I'll send you up my child,"
But she stopped me with a cry,
"Go way, go way, don't touch me, please;
I'm letting the old cat die!

"You letting him die!" I cried aghast:
"Why, where is the cat, my dear!"
And, lo! the laughter that filled the woods,
Was a thing for the birds to hear.

"Why, don't you know," said the little maid,
The flitting, beautiful elf,
"That we call it 'letting the old cat die'
When the swing stops all by itself!"

Then swinging and swinging, and looking back,
With the merriest laugh in her eye,
She bade me "good day," and I left her alone,
A "letting the old cat die!"

The Lesson of Louisiana.

The country was startled a few weeks ago by the announcement that the people of the State of Louisiana had risen in arms against the government of that State. Subsequently information confirmed the fact that an incipient rebellion had broken out there, and that insurgents to the number of 10,000 had forceably taken possession of the State Capitol, killing and wounding a number of citizens, and had driven Governor Kellogg away. Later, the assistance of the National Government was invoked by the Governor, a proclamation of warning was issued by President Grant and United States troops sent to the city of New Orleans. Those demonstrations on the part of the National Government had the desired effect and the insurgents ceased their open rebellion. There are facts in connection with this urprising against the government of that State and a lesson to be learned by it which ought be thoughtfully pondered by the loyal people of the country.

The facts are that for some time past arms have been quietly received at New Orleans which went into the hands of an organization called the "White League," composed of White Democrats, Rebels and Ku Klux, whose object is persecution of the Negroes and White Republicans in case they persist in voting with the Republican party at the November election. The organization had made its military preparations complete, and when the leader called upon them, 10,000 with bristling bayonets appeared instantly, taking possession of the city and the State Government. The excuse offered for their attempt to overthrow the State Government is that Governor Kellogg was not legally elected in 1872. Governor Kellogg may not have been so elected; but both the highest court in the state and the legislature to which his opponent McEnery appealed, decided that he had been. Whether he was or was not, he has served within three months of the full term for which he was chosen. The lesson to be learned from the action of the Rebel element in that State is that the spirit of treason is still alive and that all that is needed to have it take shape and strike at the heart of the Republic is encouragement at the North. The contest in Louisiana and, indeed, throughout the entire South is a war against the Republican party. For months past Republicans, white and black, have been assassinated, murdered, outraged, and driven from their homes because they vote the Republican ticket. Schools in which Negro children have been taught have been disbanded, the building burned and the teachers either murdered or driven to the North. For such acts of inhumanity and cruelty the Democratic press of the North have had no word of censure—rather they have been either studiously suppressed or denounced as Republican falsehoods.

The encouragement that the Rebel element in the South desire is a Democratic victory in the North. That will embolden the more cowardly of the "White League" to throw off their masks and re-commence the work of treason with more than the zeal manifested in New Orleans. The Republican party of Pennsylvania have a duty to do in arresting the flood-tide of treason, crime and outrage that is preparing to sweep over the South. The Government of the United States must be sustained in the November of 1874 as it had to be in the November of 1864. Personal piques and petty dislikes must be forgotten this year, as they were in years before when danger threatened the Nation. The worst Republican ever nominated is infinitely better than a Rebel. The loyal men of Louisiana look to the Republicans of Pennsylvania for help, and Pennsylvania Republicans need only be told there is danger, to afford it.

The Alabama Democratic and Republican State Conventions.

The Democratic party held their State convention at Montgomery, Alabama, a few weeks ago, and declared in favor of White Leagues and the white man's ticket. We have the first fruits of the spirit manifested at the convention in the murder of Walter P. Billings, a young lawyer, who, in quest of a climate better adapted to the delicate condition of his health, had recently removed from Missouri to Sumter county, Alabama, where he purchased a small plantation and commenced business. On the evening of the 8th of August he addressed a Republican meeting. At the close of the meeting at 5 o'clock in the afternoon he started to return to his plantation, about twelve miles off. On reaching a thick wood a quarter of a mile from his own house he was fired upon by the Kuklux. A wail and a shout were heard by parties at a distance, and on the following morning Mr. Billings and his horse were found lying dead upon the road, he with nineteen buckshot in his body. Just previous to this Chancellor Felder and Colonel Seawell were fired on by a mob of outlaws near Greenville, for no offense, except that the Chancellor had made a Republican speech in the court-house.

The lives of these men were saved by the timely arrival of the sheriff and posse. These are some of the first fruits of the revival of the Kuklux under the garb of "White Leagues." On the other hand, the Republicans, white and colored, are using every fair means in their power to prevent rioting and preserve the peace.

The Republican party held their State convention at Montgomery on the 21st of August, a few weeks subsequent to the Democratic State Convention at the same place. They plead only for political equality, law, and order. The resolutions are confined mainly to this absorbing problem, justice to the colored race. The first announces that "the Republican party of Alabama, in State convention assembled, again declares its unshaken confidence and its unalterable devotion to the great principles of human liberty which called it into existence, viz: The civil and political equality of all men, without distinction on account of race or color."

But that they may not be misunderstood or misrepresented, the declaration is made in the second resolution that 'In the practical application of these principles we have neither claimed or desired the social equality of the different races, or of individuals of the same race, neither do we claim or desire it now, and all assertions to the contrary are without the slightest foundation." And they add: "In point of fact we regret the issue of race against race which is tendered us by the Democratic party as fraught with incalculable evils to our whole people, which sows the seeds of ruin to all our national, social, and political interests, and which, if persisted in by that party steadily, will plunge us again into war with the Government of the United States."

In the third resolution they disclaim all sympathy with the race issue. Say they: "We have not made a race issue in the past, neither do we make or tender such an issue. What we demand for one man we demand for all, without distinction of race or color." The fourth resolution fastens the race issue and its results were they belong in the following declaration: "The race issue now tendered by the Democracy of Alabama is but the outcropping, and is the natural sequence, of the ambitious spirit which led a peaceful people into a war with their Government in 1861; which, during that war, rode rough shod over the people of the South, and after the war perpetuated its carnival of blood by a course of crime in the Kuklux Klans, which, in the extent of its organization, the numbers involved in it, the multiplicity and heinousness of its crimes, and the manner of their commission, finds no paralell on the rolls of human infamy. It is now as it was then, each in its different mode of resistance to the Constitution and laws of the land. Again they will repeat the same acts, with vengeance sharpened and overcomed by continued and repeated persistence in wrong."

The fifth resolution defines the position of the Republican party in reference to the question of mixed schools. They say: "We neither desire nor seek the invasion of the rights of the white people by the colored. We only ask equal advantages in matters of public and common rights. This we consider to be all that is embraced in the civil-rights bill, and, in order that we may be understood and no false charges made against us, we hereby declare that the Republican party does not desire or seek mixed schools or mixed accommodations for the colored people, but they ask that in all of these the advantages shall be equal. We want no special equality enforced by law. We recognize the fact that every home is sacred from intrusion, and that in a free country every one can dictate for himself the line of social exclusion."

The sixth resolution declares that "governments are instituted for the protection of life, liberty, and property," and calls upon the State and Federal governments for a vigorous execution of the laws, and upon the Governor of the State "to take all the legal means at his command for the purpose of discovering and bringing to trial all persons offending against the laws. Murder by lying in ambush, whether by one or many, must be put an end to, and the peace and security of the humblest home must be respected and protected.

Such is the spirit of the Republican party in Alabama. While their Democratic opponents are laboring to antagonize the races on the civil-rights question, the Republicans are using their influence to spread oil upon the troubled waters and thus preserve the peace.

LOUISIANA.

In 1844, Louisiana was carried for Polk against Clay, although the State had previously been strongly Whig in its proclivities; and it was discovered, when inquiry was made as to what caused the change, that the Democrats, by colonizing an immense fraudulent vote in the parish of Plaquemine, had stuffed the ballot boxes with a sufficient number of fraudulent votes to carry the State for Polk. The Whigs of that day protested against and exposed the fraud; but they never once thought of taking up arms to remedy the glaring crime that had been committed, nor did the Democrats scruple for one moment to avail themselves of all the benefits resulting to them from the practice of it. They have never, to this day, been able to throw off the odium incurred by the outrage; and they never surrendered the ill-gotten gains of that first instance of successful cheating in elections.

Again, in 1868, when the State was under Democratic sway, the most glaring and outrageous frauds were committed by the Democrats of Louisiana to enable them to carry the State for Seymour. In a large number of parishes the negro voters were either altogether disfranchised, or the votes which they cast for Grant were openly and unblushingly counted for Seymour. The New York Tribune, when Greeley was alive, frequently cited the table of these election results as proof that the State was carried for Seymour by frauds too clear to be questioned or denied, and a revival of one of those old editorials of his would go a good way, to-day, towards demonstrating that the Louisiana Democracy are not only adepts at election frauds, but are incapable of holding an honest election.

And yet, these men who cheated Clay out of the electoral vote in 1844, and who likewise cheated Grant out of it in 1868, now have the impudence to set themselves up as the friends of a pure election, and they take up arms to put a bogus State government into office upon the sole plea that they were cheated in the count! If there was any cheating done in that State, they must have done it, judging from the character they established for themselves in 1844 and 1868. Those who claim equity, in court, must show equity; and those who clamor for honest elections must themselves show clear hands. Burglars and thieves have never been allowed to set themselves up as conservators of property; and until the world changes its ideas of propriety and right, it will not permit the ballot-box stuffers of Louisiana to put themselves forward as the champions of honesty in elections.

When James Buchanan was President, the National Government, being short in its revenues, put a loan of twenty millions on the market, and failed disgracefully in placing it. No one wanted it, and the few bonds that were taken, were placed at an enormous discount. The financial reputation of the Government, under a Democratic administration was so bad that capitalist would not trust it. This was in 1857.

In 1874, under a Republican administration, the Government has been able to negotiate several hundred millions of five per cent bonds at par, and to retire, with the proceeds, an equal amount of six per cent bonds. The credit of the Government, under Republican rule, is first class, and just the reverse of what it was under Buchanan.

Again, under Buchanan, in the early part of 1861, a formidable rebellion against the Government was begun, and could easily have been checked or put down by the exhibition of firmness on the part of the National Government. But Buchanan failed in showing the necessary pluck. He was in doubt as to the powers of the Government, and therefore folded his hands in silence, and let the rebellion go on. The result of his inefficiency and cowardice in the hour of peril cost the nation four years of war, the loss of thousands upon thousands of lives, and the expenditure of billions of treasure.

Under Gen. Grant, a Republican President, a similar rebellion has lately broken out and been crushed within the five days' limited named by him. Promptness, pluck and a firm confidence in his power has thus saved us from another fearful war.

Thus is shown, in two memorable instances, the difference between a Democratic and a Republican administration of the Government. Under the first the nation loses both its credit and its power, and under the other it recovers both.

A ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE.

Mr. Robert Dale Owen fell in love with a young girl, daughter of one of his father's mill-workers at New Lanard. The girl was carefully educated, and Robert secretly thought of proposing to her as soon as he paid his first visit to America. When he came back she was married! Many years afterwards they met and talked over the olden time. He says, "During my last visit, I asked her if she had ever known that I loved her, and that I had wished to make her my wife. She said it had several times occurred to her as possible, even before I left Braxfield the first time for America; that she felt sure of it during the woodland walk, and especially while we sat together in that secluded spot, with the birds only for witness; but when I had departed for another hemisphere with no promise of return, and without declaring myself, she had felt sure it was because of her humble parentage, and so had given up all idea that she would ever be my wife. Then with a frankness which even as a child she had always shown towards me, she added that she never could tell when she first loved me: and that if during this last walk I had asked her to become my betrothed, she would have said yes with her whole heart and soul. The tears stood in her eyes as she said this; and she followed it up by saying, 'I wished to meet you once, and tell you this. But I know that you will feel it to be the best that we should not see each other nor write to each other any more.'

GRANGERS' PIC-NIC.

Thursday week, the 24th ult., was a day of general rejoicing among the farmers of the greater portion of Centre Co. who assembled for the purpose of holding a pic-nic in what is known as Leach's Grove. The institution of the Grangers' Pic-nic is a very new item in the history of this county, as such an order as the Patrons of Husbandry did not exist until the present year. It will be remembered that some five or six weeks ago a few of the Patrons assembled to spend a day of social intercourse in a grove a short distance from Bellefonte and their efforts were attended with all the pleasure and satisfaction that any one could have wished for. Encouraged by their success they resolved before the season would close to manifest to those who are indifferent or adverse to this order the strength of the union and power of the organization. Accordingly arrangements were made to hold the meeting on the day above mentioned. Some fears were entertained that the day might not prove to be pleasant on account of some indications of rain about day break but the sun rose bright and clear dispelling the mist from the mountain side, and also the doubts from the minds of the fearful. At an early hour vast multitudes began to move in the direction of Pennsvalley to join the delegations there assembling and then move to swell the numbers of those gathered at the grove.

The rattling of the buggies, the rumbling of the wagons, and the presence of almost every farmer with pleasant countenance showed that the labor of the farm had been suspended for that day. As the different delegations arrived at the grove they were welcomed by those assembled all necessary arrangements having been made by those residing in the immediate vicinity of the ground. The National Flag floated proudly in the breeze while the bands which had arrived early in the morning were discoursing sweet strains of music which reflected credit upon them, and confirmed the fact that their reputation as superior musicians is well established. The immense concourse now gathered in the shade of the lofty oaks, and began to occupy the long rows of seats which had been provided and which by the way accommodated but a fraction of the people. The meeting was then called to order and the following officers were nominated:

President, C. Dale, Sen.; Vice Presidents, G. W. Campbell, Jno. Rishel, M. P. Weaver, R. G. Brett, C. Alexander, A. J. Thompson, George Taylor, James McClintic, J. Musser, Robert McKnight, Jacob B. Smith, Henry P. Sankey, A. Thompson, and Jacob Taylor; Secretaries, C. Dale, Jun., and David H. Young.

Rev. A. J. Hartsock was called upon to open the exercises by prayer after which an address of welcome was delivered by Worthy Deputy Leonard Rhone. This gentleman spoke in a distinct and emphatic manner, entending an invitation not only to members of the order but to all other farmers' professional men, craftsmen, tradesmen and to men of every occupation to spend the day socially together.

The Pine Grove Band then played one of their lively airs, after which Bro. Jno. A. Hunter entertained the people with a pleasant and amusing speech. He spoke of the necessity of farmers being able to speak for themselves so that when assembled on occasions like this they would not be in want of orators, nor would have to invite men of the learned professions to enlighten them upon topics relative to agriculture.

After music by the Boalsburg Band dinner was announced as being the neat thing upon the programme and in an incredibly short time numerous groups were seen gathering around well filled baskets. Provisions of every description were spread out and those who came unprovided were sought for in order that they too might share in this part of the day's pleasures. Although some might have accidently been overlooked yet it is earnestly hoped that none went away unsatisfied. After a short time allowed for social conversation, in which friends who had been long separated met and talked pleasantly about things past, the people again assembled when the order of procession was made known. About four hundred Patrons formed and, headed by bands of music, marched out between the spectators who lined each side of the road. Many could not refrain from expressing their astonishment at the number who have connected themselves with the order in so short a time in this county, and as the procession moved along more than one were heard to say, "How strong they are!" or to use some similar expressions.

The Patrons then sang an appropriate song after which the Declaration of Principles was read by Bro. J. H. Keller. In this Declaration is set forth the principles by which the order is governed and the course which is intended to be pursued. After music by the Pine Grove Band an address was delivered by Col. J. F. Weaver. He spoke of the rapid increase of the order, stating that there were at present one million five hundred thousand (1,500,000) patrons in the United States and that they are increasing at the rate of five hundred (500) granges per month; he spoke of the necessity of educating the immortal part of man and that while the farmer would plow the ground and sow the seed he should also labor to inculcate useful knowledge into the minds of those with whom he came in contact.

The speaker showed that this order is not hostile to other occupations nor does it entertain the least prejudice against them, but desires to see every honorable occupation abundantly prospered. He also made some timely suggestions in reference to abolishing light and pernicious literature from our tables and introducing such as will be of permanent benefit. The arguments against the secrecy of the order were also refuted. Bro. Weaver's speech was elaborate and the thoughts were well arranged but time will not allow us to report it as fully as we would like. Although the programme was by no means exhausted yet it was considered advisable to adjourn as some who were in attendance had a great distance to return home. After a little necessary business transaction a motion to adjourn was passed, but not until it was resolved "that the committee of arrangements offer to Mr. Irvin Leach a vote of thanks for the use of the grove and his assistance in preparing the ground." Much credit is due this gentleman for his suggestions as to the proper manner of affording accommodations to those present and the aid which he kindly rendered in arranging the seats. The committee felt grateful for the services of the Boalsburg and Pine Grove Bands but in order to show their appreciation with more than thanks, a collection was taken which was devided equally between them. We could not fail to be impressed with the orderly conduct which was manifested throughout the entire day. As far as our observation went no one appeared upon the ground in an intoxicated condition, which is due chiefly to the local option law which is now in existance in this county. Immediately after the motion to adjourn was past the dense throng, which was estimated at five thousand persons, began to leave the place. As the sun went down and darkness hovered over the valley the accustomed quietness reigned in that beautiful grove which had been the scene of the most interesting Pic-nic ever held in Centre Co. and one of the largest that was ever held in Central Pennsylvania.

Help somebody worse off than yourself, and you will feel that you are better off than you fancied. You may subdue an angry man by bearing with him, but not by answering him: that is as if the steel should try to make the flint leave off giving sparks, by striking it again.

Democracy Past and Present.

The following description on the "Democracy Past and Present," is taken from a late number of the New York Times. It appeared so truthful, in all its details and likewise so timely, that we concluded to give it a place in our columns:

"When the Democratic party ceased to be a pro-slavery party, it ceased to have any common purpose by which it could be held together, and by which it could attract any considerable number of adherents from other organizations. As a pro-slavery party it offered to its members several distinct sets of motives, all, however, impelling to the same end. In the South it was distinctly pro-slavery, and Southern Democrats were mostly Unionists only when they thought the Union was the best defense for slavery. In the North it was more a Union than a pro-slavery party, and was the latter because before the war concessions to slavery seemed the only means of preserving the Union. In addition to these motives to unity, there were those which are common to all parties—the passions and prejudices of partnership and office-seekers—so that the Democracy was compact, united, and well-disciplined until 1860. Since then it has been a wreck, and is so to-day. It was divided during the war, those who had gone with it for the preservation of the Union only to serve slavery, taking the side of the South; those who had gone with it in its concessions to slavery only in the hope of preserving the Union, taking to the Republican ranks, and the partisans and office-seekers going some in one direction, some in another, and some remaining under the same. The Democratic party has never recovered from its disintegration. How could it? The former aims of the party were either accomplished or forever abandoned. The Union, for which many of its members had a profound attachment, had been established by war, and without the aid of the Democrats as a party. Slavery, which to a large part of its members had been the one supreme object of all political action, was dead. To all intents and purposes the Democratic party has, for ten years, been a thing more of the past than of the present.

Why, then, has it not disappeared? Why is it not completely seperated and scattered? What is it that leaves it, in its barren estate, power to win occasional local victories? What is the source of the vitality which survives such an offence as sympathy with the Rebellion, with such exposed and baffled trickery as the Greeley movement, and such wicked blunders as the movement for the repudiation of the bonds? The answer to these questions is not simple. The causes that have contributed to the measure of endurance shown by the Democracy are many. The party was composed largely of ignorant people who did not easily transfer their political allegiance, and who furnished the raw material for schemers like the Tammany leaders. It was the natural resting-place of many sincere men who clung to the theories of government familiar to the Democracy of other days. It retained the affections of the Southern whites, and the possibility of again working together in its ranks with a source of hope and energy to many, both North and South. It was the nucleus around which the Republican party was compelled to centre because, while it could not of itself gain control of the Government, no third party could win without its aid. Its co-oppperation, therefore, was the ultimate point to which all the disappointed and all the legitimately discontented of the Republican party had to look forward. It is by virtue of these very various circumstances, all acting, however, towards the same end, that the Democratic party, while it cannot make any headway towards decisive victory, is able to refuse or disband.

But this negative existence is not very satisfactory to those politicians who are confined to it. Even were it supported by a lofty fanaticism, such a lot would be irksome, and there is not a particle of fanaticism, or of anything like it, in the Democratic party. It is essentially a cynical party. It sneers at 'moral ideas.' It has no conception of high political aims. It is kept up by the power of association in the past, and of hopes, not very elevated, for the future. It is not singular that the leaders should reach out in every direction for some really vital principles, not held by the Republicans, around which to rally their followers, to call in recruits, by which to push on the possession of the Government. The difficulties in the way of obtaining such principles are, however, very great. Free trade is not answering well, because Pennsylvania—a State that furnishes more Democratic voters than any other, save two, in the Union—is for protection, and because there is nowhere more than a languid interest in the subject. Hard money does not prove attractive, anywhere out side of New York, and is bluntly rejected by Ohio, which furnishes more Democratic voters than Pennsylvania, and by Indiana and Missouri, while it is indorsed in Illinois only by the rigorous application of the party machinery. "Home Rule"—a phrase borrowed from Ireland to express some vague notion of local self-government and the reserved rights of the States—is some way bitterly suggessive of Tammany rule in this State, and of the dogmas of Mr. Jefferson Davis. And when this brief catalogue is exhausted the statesman of the Manhattan Club have nothing more to offer, and fall back helplessly on party discipline and the tricks of the hour These will serve to keep the party going in the old ruts. They make it an antagonist not to be despised, and one that is necessary to watch. But they do nothing more. Our readers know that we do not underestimate the strength of the Democracy, but it can never prove formidable to the Republicans so long as they are true to themselves and to the principles that always have united them.'

As Hon. R. Milton Speer, Democratic ex-member of Congress from Huntingdon, was on his way home from the Democratic State Convention recently held at Pittsburgh, he met, at Tyrone, several prominent Democrats of Clearfield, and, naturally enough, began talking about their candidates. In speaking of their candidate for Lieutenant Governor—John Latta—Mr. Speer remarked that, if it should come to pass that the Democratic ticket was elected this fall, and the Governer were to die, thus putting Latta in the chair as acting Governor, it would be an affliction of which God Almighty never dreamed!" How's that for a "recommend from a "big Injun" in the Democratic wigwam? —Clearfield Journal.

Josh Billings has "hit the nail on the head" and sent it clear through. The following definition of an editor is so truthful in every respect that we cannot refrain from publishing it. Josh says:

"An editor iz a male being whoze bizniess iz to navigate a nuze paper. He writes editorials, grinds out poetry, inserts deths and weddings, sorts out manuskript, keeps a waste-basket, blows up the "devil," steals matter, fites other people's battles, sells hiz paper for a dollar and 50 cents a year, takes 'white beans and applesass for pay when he kan get it, raizes a large family, worxs 19 hours out of every 24, knows no Sunday, gits damned bi everybody, and once in a while whipt bi somebody, livs poor, dies middle-aged and often broken-hearted, leaves no money, iz rewarded for a life ov toil with a short but free obituary puff in the papers."

A Victory of the Democracy of the North, however insignificant, being the signal for riotous outbreaks in the South, how long—if the party were to obtain control of the National Government—would it be before the reactionists of the latter section would dictate its policy as in former days, and demand the assumption of claims of losses of slaves and property during the war, and a repudiation of the national debt?

When a Tennessee husband will horsewhip his wife for washing potatoes in his Sunday plug hat, it is time to inquire whether this generation of men isn't getting to be too confounded high toned for the age of the country?

If you wish to know how many friends you have, get into office; if you wish to know, how many you haven't, get into trouble.

The N. Y. Tribune, Democratic, deplores the obscurity of the candidates nominated by the Democrats of this State.

"Fred, how is your sweetheart?" "Pretty well, I guess; she says I needn't call any more."

AT PRIVATE SALE.
A valuable farm containing 215 acres, situate within one mile of Milesburg, and three miles of Bellefonte, at the junction of the Bald Eagle Valley and Snow Shoe railroads, near the depot, Schools, Churches, Post office, Mills, etc. The lands are FREE from STONE, level, well fenced, and under a good state of cultivation. A valuable vein of
LIME STONE ROCK
is on the farm, and a village is growing up around it, which gives a fair prospect of an increase in value before long. The Philipsburg turnpike runs through it for a distance of ½ of a mile rendering a large strip on each side available for house lots, from which the entire price of the farm might be realized, lots having sold heretofore for $100 apiece. The farm is well watered, having water in all the fields, good wells at the house and barn with pumps all in good order. There also are 50 acres of good
PINE AND OAK TIMBER.
The land has a southern exposure and is therefore very early. There are two houses on the farm, both facing the turnpike. One containing five rooms on the first floor with Hall and five on the second and back Kitchen, with room over-head. Connected with this house is a good log barn, ice house and other out buildings. On the other side of the road is the other house containing eight rooms with good barn and out buildings. This farm could be divided into two parts, and will be if purchasers so desire, making one containing 130 acres with the large house, and the other containing 36 acres with the small house. COSMOLINE
COSMOLINE is the concentrated extract of the healing properties of Petroleum, which are known. It is the most bland and soothing remedy ever used; beside possessing more healing power than any substance or compound ever prepared. It is for almost all the daily casualties which occur in household, the workshop, or on the farm, as well as for many of the diseases which afflict humanity.
FOR BURNS AND SCALDS
It is invaluable, cooling and soothing the injured parts at once, and producing a perfect cure in a very short time, without leaving any scars. For this purpose alone, it is
A BLESSING TO THE WORLD,
FOR FROSTED LIMBS, COSMOLINE is fully as efficacious as for burns and scalds, restoring a healthy action to the injured parts very quickly. It is also the best possible remedy for Chilblains and Chapped Hands.
FOR RHEUMATISM especially Inflammatory, most forms of NEURALGIA, swelling of Limbs or Glands, COSMOLINE affords in the shortest possible time the HAPPIEST RELIEF.
On CUTS AND BRUISES, the action of COSMOLINE is almost magical. If promptly applied, it prevents soreness, and the wounds heal very rapidly.
FOR PILES, it has proved to be an unequalled remedy, and many a sufferer has blessed the day of its introduction.
FOR SKIN DISEASES we can recommend it with the greatest confidence, especially for Salt Rheum, Tetter, Eczema, etc., and Teething humours.
We might go on enumerating the many other conditions for which it is unequalled, but will only add that wherever there is inflammation from any cause, COSMOLINE brings a rapid and happy relief, and will be the dependence under all circumstances. COSMOLINE is Prescribed by the best physicians, both allopathic and homeopathic. It is NOT A PATENT MEDICINE,
HOUSEHOLD SURGEON'S
but nature's own production, brought into an agreeable and pleasant condition, and is as safe to use anywhere as fresh cream.
PRICE 50 CENTS PER BOTTLE.

No other Bitters in the universe can equal them. I lack space for detailing the availability of these Bitters, but will briefly state its general effects upon the human system, as follows:
It absolutely Purifies the Blood. It speedily corrects all morbid changes in the Blood. It equalizes the circulation of the Blood. It regulates the supply and quality of the blood. It prepares the Blood to furnish a proper support to all the vital properties. It enriches the constituents of the Blood upon which the vital energy of the system is dependent. It infuses the proper degree of animal heat in the system. It purges from the system the morbid humors which retard its natural functions. It imparts vitality and elasticity to every organ of the body. It corrects all derangements, however trivial, which are the first origin of Disease. It promotes the operation of the digestive organs. It improves the appetite and removes all disagreeable feeling after eating. It perfects digestion, rendering it natural and easy. It acts as a mild and efficacious stomachic. It elevates the standard of all the vital forces. It strengthens the nervous fibres and diffuses a calm throughout the nervous system. It destroys all morbid conditions of the mind. It disperses dullness and languor. It banishes those clogs upon pleasure which produce gloom. It drives away those distressing symptoms which rob us of happiness. It revives the physical energies by infusing new life and power into the system. It fortifies the system against the dangers of malaria, fluctuations of the temperature changes in the climate, &c. In short, it prepares the system for the radical change to be wrought in its condition, and restores it to perfect health and natural vigor.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of Vinegar Bitters?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of Vinegar Bitters in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.
The properties of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

WILLIAMSPORT DICKINSON SEMINARY.

MESSRS EDITORS.—In your issue of the 30th September, I find a reply to my communication in regard to the management of the above institution. As your correspondent has (unintentionally I think) made some statements which are not true, I trust you will give me sufficient space in your valuable paper to set him right.

First, then, as a friend of the M. E. church and of all her institutions, I do feel and always have felt an interest in the success and good name of Dickinson Seminary. As an individual, I never failed to give it my support in a substantial manner, whenever I could. I am a comparative stranger to both Professors Else and Herr, and my other articles on their management of the Seminary were written without either their knowledge or consent. I am responsible for them myself and, when it becomes necessary, will give my name and P. O. address, for, be it understood, I have not done with the subject. In justice to Professors Else and Herr, then, let it be known, that neither of them had any knowledge of this or any other communication on the subject.

2.—Your correspondent says that Prof. Else was acting President of the institution a "little over a month." This is incorrect: Dr. Spottswood resigned Jan. 8th, 1874, Rev. Edward J. Gray did not come to the seminary until five weeks afterwards; he staid around the institution a week without pretending to do anything but to familiarize himself with its workings. Then he returned to Baltimore and was absent ten days; he afterwards spent a week at conference, and during all this time, from Spottswood's resignation, a period of fully nine weeks, Prof. Else had charge of this institution.

3.—Your correspondent says: But President Gray without any solicitation on his own part, was chosen by the Board of Directors for the position, although untried as to his fitness in it. That the Board failed to perceive Prof. Else's fitness for the same, although tried in a subordinate one. If they had they would certainly have elected him immediately after the sudden and just then undesirable resignation of Dr. Spottswood, instead of looking elsewhere. Now which was the more likely to be jealous of the other, the one aspiring to the position and failing to secure it or the other who was sought after by the Board! Let any judge of human nature decide. In the above there are two statements which are not true. Prof. Else never aspired to the Presidency of the institution. In proof of this statement we refer to the old members of the faculty—among them, Prof. Bahn—to the students who were at the institution at the time, and we could mention the names of a number of well known gentlemen of Williamsport, who were friends and patrons of the seminary, and who urged Prof. Else to apply for the Presidency. All these,—faculty, students and patrons, solicited him to apply for that position, and to all of them he refused to do so. More than this, Mr. Else was ineligible. The charter of the seminary requires that the President shall have been not only a preacher, but a traveling elder in one of the M. E. conferences. Mr. Else is neither an elder nor a traveling preacher.

That President Gray was chosen by the directors, "without any solicitation on his own part," is equally incorrect. Pending the election, he came to Williamsport to preach. While there he worked for the position; and if any doubt my statement, I refer to the Board of Directors, and call upon them to say if President Gray did not write to certain of their number, stating that his health was failing, he must give up preaching and that the Presidency of the seminary would just suit him. In regard to the subject of jealousy I will "let any judge of human nature decide" as I get further along.

4.—"The true reason why President Gray did not nominate Prof. Else for any chair in the institution" your correspondent says is because President Gray had "a policy of his own." That I admit but I doubt its wisdom. That "it was plainly Prof Else's duty under the circumstances to co-operate with him, or resign," I also admit. But your correspondent, or President Gray, nor any member of the faculty or school will truthfully say that Prof, Else, in a single instance, failed to co-operate with the President. He may have objected to his rules and methods in the faculty meetings where he had a right to do so, but we cite the above witnessses to prove that he always co-operated with the President. For this he was censured by the students who disliked the President. These being the facts, the following parallel don't amount to much: What General commanding an army about to enter into an engagement would want a disaffected or insubordinate Lieutenant at the head of any division, no matter how great his knowledge of military tactics? I might inquire however, to continue the parallel, what general ever commanded an army, who never had enjoyed any of the discipline or experiences of an office, who did not come out of his first engagement, badly demoralized and with plenty of disaffected and insubordinate" lieutenants? "Let any judge of of human nature decide." This I do know, that there were members of the faculty who made open objections to President Gray's course and were retained after Mr. Else's name was dropped.

5.—The "gold watch presentation" was talked of, and arranged for, by the students before Mr, Gray came to the seminary and therefore your correspondent's speculations on that subject are entirely visionary.

6.—I now come to the true reason and cause of Professor Else's removal, which I will simply and plainly state, leaving to a future communication, any enlargements I may have to make on the same. Prof. Else proved himself a faithful and capable teacher and disciplinarian. He had placed the institution on a solid, healthful footing. He was respected, admired and beloved by his faculty and students. The directors and patrons of the school were satisfied with his administration. He was ineligible to the de facto Presidency. Rev. Edward J. Gray was taken from the pulpit and placed in the President's chair. He had neither experience, correct theories nor a suitable nature, to bring to to his assistance. He had a "policy of his own" which proved a bad one. His arbritrary rules and general modus operandi made him unpopular with the students. The contrast between Prof. Else's success and his failures, was noticible in the conduct of the students. He was fast losing ground. He must get rid of Else. At the annual faculty election, he fails to nominate him for any chair in the institution. The directors, students, patrons, all were staggered at his conduct. Prof. Else was "ostracized." (I have examined Webster and it is just the word I want) when it was too late to look for situations in other colleges or seminaries. Who was in the right? "Let any judge of human nature decide!" But my article has grown too long to continue the subject further. I have very much more, Mr. Editor, to say on the subject which the public should know but I will defer till some other time. H.

MISSIONARY INSTITUTE, SELINS GROVE.—Mr Editor :—By your permission I will present to your readers a brief history of this institution. The present building was erected in the Fall of 1858, and at first the institution was calculated for the admission of males only, but since 1872 it is open to both sexes, however no provisions are yet made to accommodate ladies with lodging and board in the Institute Building. It is a school devoted to classical and theological instruction.

It was founded by Rev. Benj. Kurtz, D. D., who, after encountering and overcoming many difficulties, succeeded in having this school established.

Rev. H. Zeigler, D. D., was appointed Superintendent and Theological Professor, and Rev P. Born, A. M., Principal of Classical Department, and under these gentlemen's diligent and untiring efforts, it flourished more and more since its organization, and has attained a reputation rivaling all other similar institutions in the country.

There are upwards of one hundred in attendance at present, nine of which are from Centre, viz: I. Krider, A. B. Erhard, V. K. Shadow, W. C. McCool, D. Kerr, W. Organ, H. Musser, W. F. Musser, and your humble servant. Some, if not all of us striving to prepare ourselves to meet future responsibilities.

G. W. Fortney, a native of Bellefonte, and one of our former Profs. of Mathematics, married on the 22d ult., to Miss — Zeigler, daughter of Rev. Zeigler, D. D., Rev. Born officiating. To the Prof. we would say: May success and happiness be your constant attendant in all your undertakings. As I have promised to observe brevity I shall do so, not saying that you may not hear from this section again at some time hereafter. C. L. GRAMLEY.

——Our exchanges are nearly all at enmity with the traveling agents who continue to call them the worst kind of names, say they are dishonest, impudent, low-bred fellows, Sabbath breakers and all that. But we don't think so; there must be a good many of them who make some pretentions to piety, for out of one hundred and fifty bibles, placed in the rooms of our hotel by the Y. M. C. A. over a hundred of them have been stolen by pious sample displayers.

——Kurtz, the Reporter man is after us with more of his pungent wit; In the language of the Curwensville Times, blow away you old Ku-Klux! Nobody minds you any way.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The convention met yesterday according to adjournment promptly at 2 o'clock Mr. D. H. Hastings presiding.

Andrew Gregg and D. H. Rote acted as Secretaries. The proceedings were very harmonious. Although the day was stormy there was an excellent attendence, nearly every township in the county being represented. After the list of delegates had been called the following resolution was presented by Isaac Mitchell, of Bellefonte and adopted:

Resolved That the chairman of this convention be hereby authorized to appoint Congressional, Senatorial and Judicial conferrees, to represent the republicans of Centre county in the various conferences that will meet the 14th inst., to nominate, if deemed advisable, candidates for the above named offices; and that we hereby instruct the Judicial conferrees that may be appointed, to support the Hon. J. B. McEnally of Clearfield, as candidate for Additional Law Judge of the twenty-fifth Judicial District.

Next in order were nominations for assembly. Before any nominations were made however, W. J. Thompson, Esq., of Potter, offered the following resolution which was adopted :

Resolved, That this Convention nominate but one Legislative candidate.

The following names were presented: John Boozer, of Potter; Wm. McFarland, of Harris; Christian Dale, Jr., of Benner; A. J. Swartz, of Spring. The first ballot resulted as follows :

John Boozer.....25
Wm. McFarland.....17
Christian Dale, Jr..... 2
A. J. Swartz 6

There being no choice the convention took a second ballot with the following result :

John Boozer.....26
Wm. McFarland.....21
A. J. Swartz..... 3

Mr. Boozer was declared the choice of the convention, and on motion his nomination was made unanimous. Mr. Boozer returned his thanks to the convention, and promised his untiring efforts to secure the success of the entire ticket. For County Commissioner the following names were offered with an next result :

John T. Ross, of Harris, 30; J. M. Kephart, of Benner, 10; Daniel Keller, of Harris, 10. The nomination of Mr. Ross was then made unanimous.

For District Attorney, D. S. Keller, Esq., John G. Love, Esq., and S. D. Gray. Esq., were placed in nomination. Before proceeding to a ballot, the Chairman stated that he was authorized to withdraw the name of Mr. Gray. The first ballot resulted as follows :

D. S. Keller.....19
John G. Love.....32

Mr. Love's nomination was then made unanimous.

For the office of County Surveyor, the following names were presented with the annexed ballots :

	1st.	2nd.	3rd.
H. P. Treziyulny....	10	22	23
Jos. Devling.....	25	25	29

O. Perry Jones Esq., of Philipsburg, was nominated for County Auditor by acclamation. Col. J. P. Coburn of Aaronsburg then offered the following preamble and resolution which was unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS, The administration of Hon. John F. Hartranft, Governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, has been able and efficient, and marked by such wisdom, honesty and devotion to the best interests of the State, its internal development and growth, and centennial interests as to commend itself favorably to all true citizens and republicans, therefore

Resolved, That we heartily endorse his administration, and hereby give an expression of our confidence in him as the Executive of the Commonwealth, and believe that the interests and pride of Pennsylvania, especially in view of the coming centennial, can be in no more capable, efficient and trusty hands than his, and therefore favor his renomination and reelection.

The Convention then adjourned.

We have but little time to speak of the candidates placed in nomination yesterday. Taken as a whole it is one of the best and strongest tickets that has been presented for the suffrage of the Republican party in Centre County for years. The individual candidates upon it are strong in themselves, popular with the people, and backed by the harmonious and cordial endorsement of the Convention, which was strongly attested by the hearty vote on the question of making the nominations unanimous.

The ticket was fairly nominated and is composed of men of high character and more than ordinary ability—men who will do honor to their constituents, in the positions to which they aspire. Let us then strike hands for Republican victory—each individual resolving to do his part promptly and efficiently, and Centre County will be redeemed from Democratic misrule and corruption.

——William McWilliams, a young married man living in Ferguson twp., had his fingers torn from his right hand by a grain separator on last Thursday week. Doctor G. L. Potter was sent for on Saturday last and found that gangrene had set in and that amputation was necessary. The mangled member was severed from the arm a short distance above the wrist. Dr. Potter was assisted in performing the operation by Drs. Van Tries and Smith.

——The Fall season, prettiest of them all, is upon us with its pleasant days, cool, vigor-inspiring mornings and evenings, variegated vegetation and its luscious clusters of mellow fruits. The long pleasant winter evenings will soon be here, and out door recreations must give way the indoor companions. Of the latter, none are more agreeable and entertaining than good books. In a community like this where so many of our people have acquired reading habits, the advantages of a copious and well selected library can not be over estimated. It is with pleasure we call attention to the mammoth Circulating Library of Mr. James Welch, Stationer, next door to the Post Office, He is constantly adding fresh volumes from the best writers, and for a mere pittance, any one may have the advantages of the best miscellaneous library in the county. Let the reader not forget that at Welch's book store may be found anything and everything in the stationery line: All kinds of blank-books, numberless varieties of writing paper, envelopes, penknives, and an endless collection of useful and ornamental novelties.

——There are thieves about, and some of them bold ones, too. On Friday night last Mrs. C. Dueross, a widow lady residing on Presqueisle street, stepped out of the door of her kitchen upon the porch when her attention was attracted by a shadow which glided behind a cave which answers the purpose of a cellar. She, however, bravely proceeded to investigate, and walking to the cave and peering around the corner, discovered a man crouched in the shadow of an angle. Not daunted she moved toward him, and with the stamp of her foot, which is a mode of emphasis peculiar to the fair sex, said, "What are you doing here, you villian?" and called for her nephew, who lives with her, to come with his gun. The rascal did not wait for the nephew, but jumped over the fence and made his way at a lively pace down an alley. We admire the nerve displayed by Mrs. Dueross, and hope she will just get a double barrelled gun and shoot the next prowling thief herself.—Journal.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

IF THE DRUGGIST OFFERS any kind of herb-flavored alcohol for dyspesia, billiousness, or any other ailment, tell him that you want medicine, not a bar-room drink. Ask him for DR. WALKER'S, California Bitters, the best regulating preparation known, and which you know is free from Satan Elixir. Reject all the fiery Tonics and Appetizers, and cling to that remedy, There is no medicine that compares with it. 37-4w

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEA WEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

Are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient; they lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that cause the cough.

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsie are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily upon the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind.

These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver.

Persons so effected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining turpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores, and ulcerated, the result of which is death.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium or anything calculated to check the cough suddenly.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach aids digestion and creates a ravenous appetite.

When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a billious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared only by
J. H. SCHENCK & SON,
N. E corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Phila.
And are for sale by all druggists and dealers.

DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA! DYSPEPSIA!

Dyspepsia is the most perplexing of all human ailments. Its symptoms are almost infinite in their variety, and the forlorn and despondent victims of the disease often fancy themselves the prey, in turn, of every known malady. This is due, in part, to the close sympathy which exists between the stomach and the brain, and in part also to the fact that any disturbance of the digestive function necessarily disorders the liver, the bowels and the nervous system, and effects, to some extent, the quality of the blood.

E F. Kunkle's Bitter Wine of Iron a sure cure. This is not a new preparation, to be tried and found wanting; it has been prescribed daily for many years in the practice of eminent physicians with unparalleled success: it is not expected or intended to cure all the diseases to which the human family is subject, but is warranted to cure Dyspepsia in its most obstinate form. Kunkle's Bitter Wine of Iron never fails to cure. Symptoms of Dyspepsia are loss of appetite, wind and rising of the food, dryness of the mouth, heartburn, distension of the stomach and bowels, constipation headache, dizziness, sleeplessness and low spirits. Try the great remedy and be convinced of its merits. Get the genuine. Take only Kunkle's which is put only in $1 bottles. Depot, 259 North Ninth Street Philadelphia.

For sale by all Druggists and dealers everywhere. 5-1m

IF Alcoholic stimulents are taken into the blood the heart works faster, and this unnatural speed wears out the vital machinery. All intoxicating nostrums advertised as tonics, renovators, &c., produce this disastrous effect, and should be rejected. Dr, Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters—an Invigorant without the curse of alcohol—is everywhere supplanting these poisons. 37—4w

For the REPUBLICAN.

HEAVENLY TREASURES.

K. V. C.

Sadly we lay aside our dead,
Heaping the grass above them,
And lift our streaming eyes to God,
Who knows how much we love them.

And thro' the dark, we grope in vain
With fruitless, sad endeavor,
To grasp once more the nerveless hand,
Whose touch is lost forever.

We stumble through each daily task
Heart-sick, forlorn and dreary,
And life seemed robbed of all its joy,
And feet seemed very weary.

Yet through the darkness comes a rift,
A gleam of awful splendor,
And by its light we catch a glimpse
Of God's love, pure and tender;

So tender, that our aching hearts
(Tho' still our eyes be weeping)
Would trust the dear ones whom we love
To His most gracious keeping.

And so we "lay our treasures up"
In God's most holy Heaven,
Guarded by more than earthly love,
Without an earthly leaven.

We'll miss them in the coming years,
But though our hearths are riven,
We know they sleep, the quiet sleep,
To his "Beloved given."

For the REPUBLICAN.

"LOVE NOT!" WHY NOT?

K. V. C.

Pray tell me not from "Love to fly,"
Its dangers I'd not shun,
For I have lived a lonely life,
My heart has ne'er been won.

My pulses, throb as calmly now
As when I was child,
Asleep, I knew no rapturous bliss,
Awake, no anguish wild.

My smiles are given with equal zeal
To graybeard as to youth,
I hear the worn out joke of age,
The vapid tale as truth.

In calm, serene indifference,
I pass from day to day,
No voice has power to thrill my heart,
Nor look can bid me stay.

Sometimes, beneath a beaver hat
I see two eyes of blue,
And think, that if I fall in love
My friend, 'twill be with you.

Then when I meet an earnest glance
That makes my heart pit pat,
I try each symptom to dissect,
But—Pshaw!—'Tis gone like that.

"Love not!" some kind old poet says,
For "if you love, you'll rue,"
But then, when tired of everything,
What else can woman do?

These wise old fogies, who would dash
From youth's expectant lip
The cup that brims with sweetness o'er,
In their day took a sip.

Then tell me not, from "Love to fly,"
Its dangers I'd not shun,
I'd like a small experience
If only for the fun.

THE Gift Concerts in aid of the Kentucky Library are not at all speculative. The institution is chartered by the State of Kentucky, and every dollar of the profits goes to the building up of the best Library in the United States. The first prize in the next drawing, which takes place Nov. 30th, is $250,000. It is a reliable institution, and some one will get that money. And that there may be no doubt as to the honesty of the management we cite the fact that the best banks in Louisville endorse it, and that Governor Thomas E. Bramlette, of Louisville, is general manager. An institution so fathered is certainly deserving of confidence.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

GOLD 1.10¼

If we should judge from the tone of our exchanges, the effects of the panic, which begun one year ago, is growing weaker every day. Money is in abundance in the chief cities, and is now begging for borrowers at low rates of discount. The creditors of McGirk and Perks and E. Perks & Co. held a meeting in Philipsburg on last Saturday, and report, that they did not find the affairs or the two firms in as desirable shape as was anticipated. It is fair to say however that they turned over all their property for the benefit of their creditors, who selected Judge Senam, of Clearfield, as assignee. A rough estimate makes their assets $68,000,00 and liabilities $98,000,00.

HOME TESTIMONY.

We give below a few certificates out of the many received to show the reputation of this Liniment at home. The first is from the well-known iron firm of Valentine & Co.

BELLEFONTE FORGE, June 10th, 1874.

This is to certify to whom it may concern that we have used Tyson's Liniment, in cases of Sweeny and other diseases, on a valuable mule which we had given up as entirely useless, and after a few applications the mule was entirely cured, and is now in full work and as good as he ever was.
VALENTINE & Co.

BELLEFONTE, June 10th, 1874.

E. TYSON—Dear Sir:—I hereby acknowledge the value of your Universal Liniment. A valuable mare of mine was badly lamed in the pasture joint. I tried numerous remedies. She grew worse all the time, and I found would become permanently worthless. Your Liniment was recommended to me, and after the use of a single bottle she was entirely cured. I would cheerfully recommend it as an invaluable remedy. I. LOSE.

BELLEFONTE, June, 1874.

I can cheerfully recommend the Liniment made by Mr. Tyson, having used it for a bruised foot, which it cured effectually. P. B. WILSON.

MESSRS. TYSON & Co.—Gents:—I have been suffering with a severe Rheumatism in my shoulder for several years, the pain at times being almost unbearable. Having tried many remedies without getting relief, I was at first reluctant to try your Universal Liniment, but am happy to say that, having at last concluded to try it, I secured immediate relief, and after using about one-third of a bottle was entirely cured. Please send me another bottle, as I would not be without it. MRS. C. GOSSLER.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 15th, 1874.

This is to certify that I had my shoulder and arm badly sprained while in the act of shoeing a mule, and that I was perfectly cured in forty-eight hours by using one bottle of Tyson's Liniment. I can recommend this Liniment as superior to any I have ever used. P. BERI. SCHROCK.

BELLEFONTE, June 16th, 1874.

This is to certify that I had Rheumatic pains in my arms, and after having applied Tyson's Universal Liniment once the pain disappeared. F. MILLER.

MESSRS. TYSON & Co.:—I derived great benefit and relief from the use of Tyson's Liniment in a case of Rheumatism affecting my arm and shoulder, and cheerfully recommend its use to those suffering from like causes. S. H. YOCUM.

BELLEFONTE, June 25th, 1874.

MR. E. TYSON—Dear Sir:—Since writing you of the benefit of your Liniment some days since, I have had another case that attests its value to a much greater degree than the former. One of the most valuable horses in my stable became so lame in the fore-shoulder that I could not use him. In fact, he was so bad that I feared I would lose the use of him entirely. He was completely worthless, and after working for days to ascertain the cause, and failing, I used your Liniment, rubbing his shoulder well with it, until a couple of bottles were used, when, to my surprise and gratification, he became fit to work, and is now entirely well. ISAAC LOSE, SR.

Manufactured for Tyson & Co., by F. P. Green, Druggist, Bellefonte, Pa., a fac-simile of whose signature will appear upon the copyrighted wrapper around each bottle, without which none is genuine, and to whom all wholesale orders should be addressed.

The Surprises of Autumn.

This is the season when great surprises come to us; and even the man who long since made up his mind not to be surprised at anything has to "give in" about these days, as the almanac makers say. A farmer goes out after supper, to hoe in the garden, but is not there long before he is obliged to hurry in, 'the days have grown so short.' Or, if he is not driven with hard work, he sits down after tea to read the newspapers and find out the latest quotations for wool-skins, and the freshest revelations about the Beecher-Tilton matter, when—why, what is the matter? He is surprised and frigthened to find his eye-sight failing, and he cannot see as well as he used to! As true as the world, he will have to get a pair of Diamond eye glasses—the papers have such fine print now-a-days! If going out to ride, towards night, he is surprised to find it so cold, and wonders why he did not take a fall over-coat and lap-robe with him—"We are having chilly nights now;" to be sure! By such experiences he begins to realize that autumn days are coming, and that the season of out-door enjoyments is fast drawing to a close. But it is not alone in this particular that the surprises occur. The orchards have a brown and russet look, the leaves seem to have lost their bright green color, and, looking up, their boughs are found to bend under the weight of ripened fruit. How surprised it is that full-grown apples have so quickly succeeded the fragrant blossoms of early summer!

The grain, which but a short time ago, was waving green and luxuriant under the summer sun, is now harvested, and the yellow straw occupies its place in the already well filled barn. There are golden ears of corn where, but a few short weeks ago, the tiny blade was just putting in an appearance; and as you pass between the rows, huge pumpkins, so suggesstive of husking time, and bountiful suppers, and moonlight evenings—make you turn aside your steps, or lift your feet higher to get over them with safety. There are wonderfully formed pods containing beans, all of which are nearer alike than if any man had run them in a mold, or turned them in a lathe—and the ground under your feet is full of potatoes, where only a short time ago a few "eyes" were thoughtlessly covered up. The colts and calves, and lambs, which not long since, were "turned out to grass," come up to the yard so changed that you hardly know them. These and numberless other surprises come upon us at once; and not till we stop to reflect, do we realize how short the days have grown, how cool the nights are, how fast the "whirligig of time" has been carrying us onward towards winter.

It is a surprise to see the snow fade away in the spring time, to see the green grass cover the apparently dead fields, to watch the trees put on their array of green leaves—but the surprise is one which, after all is not a surprise. We are expecting and longing for the change, and when it comes we are glad of it. Not such are our experinces of the on-coming autumn. The forces of nature have been silently at work day and night throughout the season, perfecting the labors of the year. The roots of the plants have been assimilating the elements of growth in the soil, the leaves have been taking it in from the atmosphere, and each plant after its own order has stored up the forces which at this season shows results in ripened fruits and grains. Day and night while we have slept and while we have been engaged in our business—this silent, slow, effectual, process of fruit-forming has been going on in every part of nature's work-shop. And who wonders the results surprise us? The wonder would be if we were not surprised—for notwithstanding the fact that this process is repeated year after year we still know so little about it that it is ever new, and we cannot help calling it wonderful. Happy is the farmer, who in connection with his round of work, also makes a study of every operation, and asks questions of nature at every stage of the season's labors. Whatever surprises the autumn may bring to our readers, we certainly hope they will not be of the kind which came to the slack old farmer of whom we have heard; who, taking his hoe in the fall went out to dig his potatoes, but not finding any was heard to say: "There, I thought I planted some potatoes, I meant to have done so, but guess I didn't." In autumn, if never at any other season, we get the force of the scriptural injunction: "He that soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, but he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully." Now, if never before, we see the benefit of generous manuring, bountifully seeding and good culture; and the farmer who pursues his operations on this liberal scale may well be surprised, if, at harvest time, he has poor crops.

Hastening the Ripening of Fruit.

Acting under the principle that renewal of the earth immediately surrounding the roots increases their activity and accelerates the maturing of all parts of the plant, including the fruit, Mr. Stall removed the earth about an early pear tree, eight weeks before the normal period for ripening, for a space of thirteen to fifteen feet in diameter, and to such an extent as to leave a depth of earth over the roots about two or four inches, which could be thoroughly warmed by the sun. He was surprised, not only by the ripening of the fruit in the middle of July, but also by its superior juiciness and flavor. In another experiment, the removal of the earth from the north side of a tree alone caused the fruit on that side to ripen several days earlier than on the south side. Frequent watering was, of course, necessary in the above experiment.

A CORRESPONDENT says: "Take the common herb pepperment, scatter it in their paths and places of resort, and no young or old rat will brook the insult, but leave in disgust. I have tried it for eight years at least with perfect success."

ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

AT THE PATRONS PICNIC OF CENTRE COUNTY BY LEONARD RHONE.

Mr. President, Worthy Patrons and Citizens, I bid you welcome to this grove to-day.

Never in the history of Centre county has a like gathering of farmers been witnessed or recorded. What is the motive power that produces such a demonstration of so quiet and unassuming a class of people as the farmers? Heretofore they have been led, to-day they step on the arena of action to lead, to the surprise and consternation of all those who have interposed themselves between producer and consumer making exhorbitant profits in handling our supplies and products, thereby they and their families living in oriental splendor, while the farmer and his family can not afford those privileges, and are compelled to toil till they are wearied out and are unfitted for enjoyment.

Not only has the organization of the Patrons of Husbandry been carried into every part of the United States, but it has extended itself into the Province of Canada and no doubt will into the Empires and Kingdoms of the old world.

But friends let us not be too over confident of our strength and progress. Success will not fall upon us like rain from the Heavens without aid or effort of ours. It will not come to us like the glorious sunshine, without labor or price.

In this movement as in every thing else, we must work for success; to this end, there are great duties developing upon every Patron. We must labor constantly to make our Granges what they ought to be, organizations of purity, fidelity, and brotherly love. We must ever inculcate honesty, fairness and uprightness of dealing.

Our bond of union is in the congeniality of like pursuits. The leading purposes of the Grange, are to aid the farmer by multiplying his means of intelligence, by giving him the mastery of all the better methods, and processes of the farm, including the buying of our supplies and machinery, and the selling of our stock, grain and produce, and by the quickening, intensifying and elevating of all the better elements of his social life.

The Granges secure the farmer against the torpidity of solitude and the extortion of monopoly. It kindles in him a readier zeal and sturdier courage in the management of the farm, in short will do for him what skilfully organized effort has already done for every other great branch of business in the world.

"Ours being peculiarly a farmers' institution we can not admit all to our ranks," but any person engaged in farming to the extent that it is his paramount interest, and has no interest in conflict with ours, we freely welcome to the grange. "There are persons in the grange, who would not be eligible if outside, and we propose to have them remain, but the restrictions to others coming in have become an absolute necessity. The gates have to be closed."

We do not ask to join the Crispins, the mechanics union, trades unions or other unions of the land, nor do we ask them to join the patrons; not that we are unfriendly to them, but there is no congeniality of like pursuits, therefore there would be nothing to interest or instruct. Manufacture your goods, implements and wares, and sell them direct to patrons, and we will in return sell our stock, grain and produce direct to you, thereby furthering each others' interest.

We should carefully guard against depriving the young men and women of our order the privilege of being heard, as is so often done, by giving those of other callings such preferences. We should carefully encourage them by giving them opportunity to bring out their abilities. We should educate them at our Agricultural Colleges, giving them a knowledge of those practical sciences that underlie the process of agriculture by training, and sending forth men and women, who may become as years pass, the leaders in the great movement which the granger has inaugurated.

At the organization of the Pennsylvania State Grange in Reading, Sept. 18, 1873, there were only twenty-two subordinate granges represented, we to-day number three hundred and fifty. It is scarcely more than seven months since the first grange was instituted in this county, we now have sixteen granges and still more prospective. We now number over twenty thousand subgranges in the United States with a membership of a million and a half.

Truly we have reason for congratulation upon the astonishing spread and increase of the order of Patrons of Husbandry. Never since the world began has anything like it been witnessed or recorded.

We must use every effort to enlist all the farmers for work in this glorious cause, working in unison with all the granges throughout the land, claiming honored recognition in the ranks of all men and associations. And what effort of man, for the attainment of good, or the defence against evil, has ever reached its final triumph, since the world began, without combined effort? Combination is, in fact, the great instrument of progress, Without it, civilization would relapse into barbarism.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.

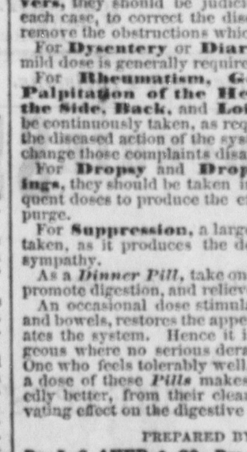
Ayer's Cathartic Pills,



For the relief and cure of all derangements in the stomach, liver, and bowels. They are a mild aperient, and an excellent purgative. Being purely vegetable, they contain no mercury or mineral whatever. Much serious sickness and suffering is prevented by their timely use; and every family should have them on hand for their protection and relief, when required. Long experience has proved them to be the safest, surest, and best of all the Pills with which the market abounds. By their occasional use, the blood is purified, the corruptions of the system expelled, obstructions removed, and the whole machinery of life restored to its healthy activity. Internal organs which become clogged and sluggish are cleansed by Ayer's Pills, and stimulated into action. Thus incipient disease is changed into health, the value of which change, when reckoned on the vast multitudes who enjoy it, can hardly be computed. Their sugar-coating makes them pleasant to take, and preserves their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are ever fresh, and perfectly reliable. Although searching, they are mild, and operate without disturbance to the constitution or diet or occupation.

Full directions are given on the wrapper to each box, how to use them as a Family Physic, and for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action, or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back, and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion, and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

MEDICAL.

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

THE GREAT INDIAN DIURETIC.
INFINITELY SUPERIOR TO BUCHU.

Nine tenths of the human family suffer, directly or indirectly, at one time or other, from diseases or irregularities of the generative system, while the victims of indiscretion, and of quack treatment, are comparatively numerous.

The idea that patients cannot treat themselves successfully in these cases, has long ago been exploded. A good and reliable medicine, prepared by an experienced physician, from the original Indian Recipe, that is guaranteed to effect a can be as safely relied upon as the prescription of the most skillful practitioner. Such a medicine is the celebrated

CHEROKEE REMEDY.

Full directions accompany each bottle, and if they are carefully followed, a quick and permanent cure is guarranteed. Price $2.00 per bottle.

THE CHEROKEE INJECTION,

should always be used in conjunction with the Remedy for both incipient and obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa. Price $2.00 per bottle.

CHEROKEE CURE

for seminal weakness (spermatorrhœa), is a simple vegetable medicine that was used for many years in the practice of the physician who first gave the remedy to the public. It has effected cures that would scarcely be credited except on ocular evidence of the fact. Full directions, with pamphlet containing all particulars of symptoms, treatment, &c., accompany each bottle. Price $2.00 per bottle. Sold everywhere.

CHEROKEE PILLS.

These Pill are prepared expressly for the cure of those irregularities to which ladies are subject, and will be found safe, reliable and effectual, for the cure of Suppression, Green Sickness, Pain in the Back, Hysteria, Sick Headache, &c., &c. Price $1.00 per box.

Heimstreet's Hair Restorative,

OR INIMITABLE HAIR COLORING.

NOT A DYE.—Heimstreet's "Hair Coloring is not a Dye, and its operation is not by any chemical effect, but by a natural restoration of the glands, thus giving the hair the color it originally had.

NATURALNESS.—When the hair is dyed, its color is leaden hued and unnatural, but when restored by HEIMSTREET'S HAIR COLORING, its appearance is so perfectly natural that no one can detect the use of any Restorative.

STAINLESS.—While the Restorative acts promptly on the hair, it leaves no stain or mark whatever on the skin. It is composed of ingredients that form a perfect dressing as well as a coloring, so that no oils, &c., are necessary.

THIS MOST EFFECTIVE of all the Hair Restorers is for sale by all druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Numerous certificates from those who have used it are in the possession of the proprietors.

PARK'S BALSAM

OR WILD CHERRY AND TAR.

BALSAM.—Nothing is more soothing to the irritated membranes than the pure BALSAMS of which this medicine is composed.

WILD CHERRY.—The true bark of Wild Cherry is an unfailing specific for all throat and pectorial diseases.

TAR.—The wonderful healing properties of Tar when united with the other ingredients, render PARK'S BALSAM the most efficient Cough Medicine ever offered to the public.

CONSUMPTION.—The many cases of Consumption that have been cured justify us in the assertion that it is the very best medicine for that disease ever discovered.

CERTIFICATES OF CURES.

STEPHEN FISK, of New York, says his daughter had consumption, and terbucles had formed in her lungs. He was induced to try Park's Balsam, which effected a speedy cure.

T. EDWARD FLEET, of Brooklyn says, I think it is the best medicine for affections of the lungs I ever used.

G. S. FANCHER, of New York says, I feel fully persuaded that Park's Balsam has saved my life.

We have in our possession hundreds of certificates from others, and all of the same cheering import. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere.

Address all orders to JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., 8 and 9 College Place, New York.

EGYPTIAN
Rat and Vermin Destroyer

FOR EXTERMINATING RATS, MICE, WATER BUGS, ROUCHES, RED ANTS, &c.

STRENGTH.—When a Rat tastes the Egyptian Destroyer, his death warrant is signed, sure. It cannot fail to kill. It also creates great thirst, and the rat will search for water out of doors, and not die in his hole, to cause a stench that cannot be got out.

ATTRACTIVENESS.—Rats are the shrewdest of vermin. It is hard to get them to eat poison. An ingredient in the Egyption Destroyer is a perfect bait, and they are attracted rather than freightened be it. "Rats (not children) cry for it.

KEEPING SOFT.—People know how the ordinary Rat Pastes dry up and become useless, causing annoyance and loss. The Egyptian Destroyer is fully warranted to keep soft, fresh and effective in any climate for years.

SURE DEATH.—The Egyptian Destroyer kills every time. Hundreds of unsolicited testimonials are now in the hands of the proprietors, substantiating its great merits as the best preparation for destroying Vermin in the world. Be sure and ask for the "Egyptian," and take no other.

Put up in large glass bottles. Price, 25 cts. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

HOLLOWAY'S
Pills and Ointment

EVERY MAN HIS OWN PHYSICIAN.

THE GRAND PRINCIPLE that operates in these wonderful medicines is the power that they possess in purifying the turbid blood, and expelling corrupt humors from the system.

Both the ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, Burns, Chapped hands, Chilblains, Fistula, Gout, Limbago, Mercurial Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Ring-Worms, Salt Rheums, Scalds, Skin Diseases, Swelled Glands, Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Sore Heads, Sore Throats, Sores of all kinds, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Tetter, Ulcers, Venereal sores, Wounds of all kinds.

USE HOLLOWAY'S EXPECTORANT for the absolute cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Pains in the Chest, and all affections of the Pulminary nature.

CAUTION.

Be careful and see that each bottle has the Holloway and Co. trade mark on it.

MEDICAL.

Wright's Rejuvenating Elixer.

For the restoration of Nature's forces. It gives new life and vigor to the aged, and causes the blood of youth to course through the veins. It effectually cures Impotency, Palpitation of the Heart, Loss of Muscular Power, Low Spirits, Disorganization of the Generative Organs, and all the train of ills that follow in the path of the transgressor of Nature's laws. Price $2 per bottle.

It will be readily understood that in the brief space afforded by the advertising columns of a public print, it is impossible to give all particulars of the diseases that may be cured by the CHEROKEE MEDICINES. That they are destined to become immensely popular is plainly obvious in consequence of their

GREAT INTRINSIC MERIT.

The pamphlet and circulars that accompany the medicines give all the information which cannot be given here, and the remedies may be had of any respectable druggist.

ELAINE

AS AN ILLUMINATOR.

WHY IT IS THE SAFEST.

ELAINE will not explode while burning in a lamp, nor in any other way, as it does not contain any of the explosive compounds so frequently met with in the ordinary oil for illuminating. A lamp, filled with ELAINE, if upset or accidently broken, will not explode or burn. There is no position in which you can put a lamp filled with ELAINE, for common use, in which it will explode. As no other illuminator has such advantages of safety, ELAINE IS CERTAINLY THE SAFEST FAMILY ILLUMINATING OIL KNOWN.

——A special court, which will likely last two weeks, will commence on the 19th inst.

——A balloon sailed over town on Friday week—supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

——Rouse's Theatre with the well known actress, Fannie Denham, is occupying Reynold's Hall during Fair week.

——The experiences of the past week have demonstrated that it sometimes takes more than two pecks to make half a bushel.

——We are sorry to hear that Mr. P. G. Meek is troubled with an affection of one of his eyes which threatens to result in the loss of sight.

——The 20th day of October has been fixed by Chairman Morrison of the Democratic county committee for a blow-out in the court house.

——The exhibition by the students of the Pine Grove Academy, on last Friday evening, must have been interesting, judging from the programme sent us.

——G. W. Dukey, the defaulting postmaster of Philipsburg, has been removed from our county jail to Pittsburgh to await his trial in the U. S. District Court.

——The Watchman tells of a lady, named Rosenhuber, living in this county, who is 102 years of age. She lives in the Cooper Settlement, Snow Shoe township.

——A street commissioner was attacked by a belligerentQuaker on Saturday week and was made to realize the truth of the saying that it's a long road that has no wind.

——Notwithstanding the ravages of the potato bug, reports come from all sections of the county, that the present crop of potatoes will exceed all other yields during the last ten years.

——Rouse's Theatrical troope occupied Reynold's hall last evening. Rouse is an old favorite in Bellefonte and his entertainments during the rest of this week will no doubt be well patronized.

——The number of entries made at the office of the Secretary of the County Fair up till yesterday noon was greater than it has been for a number of years. We learn that Mr. John A. Woodward of Howard made over seventy entries.

——The Reporter says: A few days ago, a monster rattle snake was killed by George Eisenhuth near Beaver Dam Tunnel that measured five feet in length and nine inches in circumference, weighed twelve pounds and had eleven rattles.

——Mr. S. Austin Brew, well known in town and county as an excellent business man and gentleman, has lately purchased the general grocery store of Fryberger and Moran, on Allegheny street, next door to the Post Office. Mr. Brew is a live, active man and understands the business of storekeeping thoroughly. See advertisement.

——Major General James A. Beaver, commanding the 5th Division, National Guards of Pa., has made the following staff appointments:

Lieut. Col. I. H. Rawling, Division Inspector; Lieut. Col. E. J. Miller, Division Surgeon-in-Chief; Lieut. Col. D. S. Keller, Assistant Adjutant General; Major John R. Garden, Division Quarter-Master; Major S. W. Starkweather, Division Paymaster; Major George N. Hale, Aid-de-Camp.

——A young man named Mitchel met with a singular and almost fatal accident at the McCalmont ore mines on Wednesday last. He went into a shaft some four or five feet from the surface to examine a bird's nest and the scaffolding gave way and he fell down the shaft a distance of sixty-five feet into over seven feet of water. Some laborers who were present let one of their number down and, with much difficulty the boy was rescued. He was badly bruised and received some injury about the head which induced delirium that lasted several days. At present he is out of danger.

——We are compelled to stop and wonder at the accounts we have read in the daily papers of the wedding of young Fitch and General Sherman's daughter. It has been a god-send to the reporter cormorants. That it was a big thing, these latter have left no room for doubt. But the ordinary American citizen who is about laying in his supply of wood and coal, buying winter clothing for his family, and making arrangements to work at half-price until the spring opens, will no doubt relish the description of the thousand dollar dresses worn by the ladies on that occasion. Gen. Sherman, himself, we have always thought, is a somewhat excentric individual, but a most successful soldier, full of genius, and a man of bold and original ideas, and those who are familiar with his wonderfully successful military career will readily imagine that the great man felt wonderfully out of place at that marriage feast. Imagine the man who for months together wore nothing but a private's uniform and lived on the private's rations, in "fashionable" conversation with "Mrs. Geoffry of New York, who wore a magnificent robe of gros grain silk, couleur d'abricot, flounces and trimmings of black lace in elegant design, and in her hair crush rose, with diamond dew-drop, over which hovered a humming bird of emeralds and diamonds."

Imagine 350 guests, all arrayed in the costliest of dry-goods, gathered in magnificent parlors, listening to a bishop making a speech on wedding jurisprudence. Imagine the old gentleman, in full canonicals, solemnly declaring to the assembly that the match between Miss Sherman and young Fitch was made in heaven—when it is quite reasonable to suppose that their courtship was not more heavenborn or sincere than that of the young couple who lately walked to Bellefonte from the Bald Eagle ridges, were married by a Justice of the Peace and blew the gas out in their room at the hotel and nearly suffocated before morning.

The wedding presents were numerous, rare and valuable, and the parties who allowed a full and complete list of them, with the donors' names attached, to be published all over the country, would hardly have been less indelicate, if the price of each present had been affixed. Of course the whole affair, dazzling and brilliant as it was, is none of our business and we only referred to it in order to make the following points: 1. That it is a piece of particular foolishness for the country to make so great a fuss over two young persons who of themselves don't amount to anything more than hundreds of young married people in this county. 2. That nobody is benefitted by so much fuss and display but the happy young couple who received the presents. 3. That the whole affair, at this particular time, tends to weaken public confidence in the great man who has thus made himself a subject of ridicule. 4. That if young Fitch and his wife were suddenly reduced to poverty, he would not amount to any more than any other poor man.

——The local hereof has been in considerable trouble (?) since the Centre Hall Reporter of last week published a terribly severe charge against him. The place where his strictures hit us the most severely is in the fact that they are true. He accuses us of having been a farmer. This is true—and if he, and some of his ex-editorial or would-be editorial friends in the county, can't bring something more serious than that against us, we have a kind of a notion that Kurtz won't do very much damage. It is not considered very much of a crime now-a-days to be, or to have been, a farmer. Of course capitalists, corporations, rings, and the like, have little love for the farmer, since he has turned granger and anti-monopolist. But that the Reporter man is down on them and also afraid of them is plain. We hardly think he would write columns upon columns every week in support of the district candidates, for six months before the election, in a district that generally gives over two thousand democratic majority, if he were not afraid of some body. Then it is rather ungenerous in Kurtz to give the farmers such a back-handed slap over our shoulder. He owes all he possesses, his printing office, his property and bank-stock, to the support he has received directly or indiretly from the farmers of Penns Valley. We may be, in a measure, mistaken in this statement, for it must be remembered that Kurtz spent a couple of years in the Legislature, of which we will have something further to say at another time.

——There has been so much contradictory newspaper talk about the expected balloon ascension on next Friday at three o'clock, that we desire to set all reports to the contrary at rest by stating that we have official authority from Prof. Renner, to announce that he will bring his balloon to Bellefonte to-day and that he will make the ascension on Friday afternoon, between the hours of three and four o'clock.

——Judge Gamble of Lycoming County said of liquor sellers, convicted of violating the Local Option law: "The court does not regard these gentlemen as criminals." Healthy old Judge!

——Photograph Albums, in endless variety, from $1.60 to $15.00, at J. Welch's Book Store. 38—2t

——We are positively assured that the balloon ascension will take place on Friday afternoon between the hours of three and four o'clock.

——A total eclipse of the moon, will take place on the 24th and 25th of October. It will commence at 11.43 P. M. on the 24th, and end at 4.40 A. M. on the 25th.

——The kind hearted gentleman who with a commendible exhibition of self denial, presented a tramp with fifty cents yesterday afternoon, was grieved to meet said individual at the Theatre, last evening.

——The well known and popular dentist, Dr. Belford, returned to Bellefonte last Friday and will be found in his office for the next month, where he will attend to all wanting substantial dental work.

——The street committee has done some excellent repairing on our thoroughfares during the last month and they are now about ready to be dotted with ash-piles and other winter ornaments.

——The Keystone Base Ball Club of Bellefonte and the Semper Paratus second nine of the P. S. College, played a match game on the grounds of the latter on Saturday, resulting in a victory for the Semper Paratus by a score of 37 to 23.

——From the Journal we learn that there was a meeting of the creditors of McGirk & Perks, bankers at Philipsburg, on Saturday, and we have since heard, from a private source, that arrangements satisfactory to all parties will shortly be made.

——D. S. Keller, Esq., was suddenly called to Washington, D. C., in Thursday last, owing to the death of his father-in-law. His office as Secretary of the Agricultural Society is being temporarily filled by Col. Shortlidge assisted by Mr. J. W. Gepheart.

——The borough council lately placed a neat and substantial fence around the spring, but the board walk, leading thereto, is in a very bad condition and the inhabitants of that neighborhood feel kind o' sorry that no councilman has to travel over it on dark nights.

——We have gratifying information to the effect that the water supply will be regular and ample after to-day. The needed improvements at the water works are about completed and the inconvenience of having water only four hours per day will be permanently discontinued.

——On Saturday last, while passing along the Milesburg pike near the toll gate, we encountered a "Red-Horse Cattle Powder" man in trouble. His horse had departed this life and the cattle-powder wagon was minus a propelling power. The cause of the animal's death was such a mystery that a post mortem examination was made, and a general giving way of the system found to be the difficulty that carried the deceased to that barn from whence no traveler e'er returns. It was thought by the late owner advisable to excerpt the tail for fly-brushing purposes, as a memento of the past. Deceased was a bachelor and passed away without any needless ostentation.

——Duncan Hale & Co. is the name of the new firm that has lately come into possession of the Flouring Mill, formerly owned by the Thomas Estate and operated by John M. Wagner & Co. The mill has been refitted and repaired in the most complete manner and Mr. C. T. Garberich, the active member of the old firm, is still in charge of the establishment. He thoroughly understands the manufacture of all kinds of grains and, with the improvements in machinery and otherwise lately added, he will be better enabled to accommodate his customers.

The new firm is making the finest brands of flour at present which will be sold at the lowest market rates. They pay the highest cash prices for all kinds of grain.

FIRE.—About three o'clock yesterday morning the alarm of fire spread rapidly over the place, arousing our citizens, most of whom put their heads out of their chamber windows, saw that it was at Point Lookout, and that a regular thunder storm was in progress, and with the utmost confidence in our thorough fire department, and its ability to grapple with the flames crept into bed and resumed their slumbers. The burning building was the Forest House of J. C. Nason, which has been vacant for some time, and was undergoing repairs. The fire broke out apparently from above a veranda at one side of the building, and is supposed to have been incendiary. The fire department was promptly on hand, and hastily gathering up the empty boxes, barrels, etc., in the vicinity, each member seated himself and vigorously watched the destruction of the building, which was entirely consumed. Mr. Nason, who came from California recently to attend to his affairs here, has been lodging in the house, but was not staying there last night. He holds a policy of insurance. Loss about 2,500.—Philipsburg Journal.

——One of the finest and best arranged stores to be found in Centre Co is the drug store of F. Potts Green in the Bush House block.

The ornamental windows in front reveal, throughthe large panes, a pair of perfect little cabinets, funny little contrivances that nobody but Green would think of, a miniature steam engine that keeps an automatic string band always playing, queer geological specimens, and a profusion of pretty things so arranged as to give a very pleasing appearance. Upon entering the store, the system and order that seems to prevail throughout the establishment, impresses one at once that this is a place where mistakes would be impossible. The main room, 60 feet in length, is used for the retail part of his business, and is filled with everything pertaining to the retail drug trade. Four large French plate show cases line the counters, filled with a full line of Druggist's sundries, and it is rarely the case that you cannot find what you want in the line of his business. The salesroom is separated from the Laboratory by an ornamental glass partition on which we find the words "Prescription Department" "No Admission." As the preparing of prescriptions is the main business of his establishment, and one which requires the greatest care and skill, this department has judiciously been separated from the main part of the store. In the rear of the store is the private office. During the many years in which he has been engaged in the Drug business, he has found occasion to prepare for his trade, various medicinal preparations, some of which have become so popular that he has been compelled to manufacture them in large quantities in order to supply the demand from Druggists and merchants. Among these may be mentioned his "Comp. Syrup of Tar, Honey and Bloodroot," "Blackberry Balsam," "Liver Pills," "Worm Expeller" and "Cocoa-Camphorine." He is also manufacturing "Tyson's Universal Liniment" which in this community has already become a house hold word. F. Potts Green is a druggist both by nature and education. There are few men who understand the business better than he does. Thoughtful, careful and exact in everything about his establishment, mistakes are unknown. He believes that, in medicines, purity is the first consideration. His life has almost altogether been spent in the business, and his tastes and inclinations are all in that direction. His principal assistant, Mr. McMinn is a gentleman of thorough experience, having been for more than five years engaged in the retail drug business in Chicago. He has built up a large trade and is now reaping the reward of his industry and fidelity to the public.

—FALL FUNERALS.—The following aptly put little article on a certain class of Sunday schools—of which we have a number in this county, from the pen of Rev. W. T. Wylie of this place, we find in the October number of the Sunday School Journal. Here it is:

For years these funerals have been very numerous and very sad in many districts. Beautiful young summer Sunday-schools have been laid to rest by superintendents and teachers amid the lamentations of the children and young people who felt that they had needlessly lost a good friend.

These sad deaths occur generally in consequence of bad colds. We do not mean that the scholars become disabled by sickness, for this is just the season of all the year when our day-schools are in full blast. The sad colds we speak of are taken by the teachers. They do not effect the body so much as they do the spirit. Perhaps it would be better to speak of the disease as a bad coldness which takes possession of the leaders, and paralyzes their energies.

To all readers who have been accustomed to assist in conducting these fall funerals we earnestly say, "Don't die this year!" You need not die, and surely you are not willing to bury your school alive. The sinking of a ship with all on board is scarcely a greater disaster than the disappearance of a living, working school amid the waves of worldliness.

Let new life be infused into your school. If some of its members must stop coming, rally all those who can come. If your school cannot be made bigger, see that it is made better at least, and thus you will insure your future growth. If you will persist in burying your school, by all means appoint a day of humiliation on the Sabbath following, and then you will have speedy resurrection, and enter upon a winter's work. Let us be done with fall funerals of Sunday-schools.

IRON MAKING EXTRAORDINARY.—Eagle Furnace, owned and operated by C. Curtin & Co., being out of blast just one month for repairs, etc., blew in again on Monday, Sept 21, 1874. On Thursday Oct 1, the ten days were up. She made in that time 65$\frac{67}{200}$ tons of good forge metal, consumed 6780 bushels of charcoal, 268241 pounds of ore and run 355 charges. The average is 104 bushels of charcoal to the ton of 2240 pounds iron, 4126 pounds of ore to the ton of 2240 pounds metal, and averaged 35$\frac{5}{10}$ charges per 24 hours.

The ore used was all burned in heaps before using. The kinds of ore used were $\frac{1}{3}$ Logan $\frac{2}{3}$ "jigger" ore, that is, ore from two wash ore banks passed through the 'Bradford Ore Separator' at their mine. The ore was entirely clear of sand and flint or any other foreign substances. The Furnace stack is only 28 feet high and 8 feet bosh, being the smallest Furnace in Centre county.

The previous blast she made from one week on the "jigger" ore 2240 pounds metal on an average of 3851 pounds of ore.

——A stranger in town yesterday said he had not been out to the fair yet but that the cattle exhibition in our streets was very fine. This is right, turn every old hen, hog, cow, goose and dog into the streets this week, and they will rival those on exhibition at the fair grounds, at least in numbers.

——Communication from "On the Wing" too late this week.

——R. D. A. McKinney has been appointed postmaster at Philipsburgh and he has entered upon his duties.

——J. F. Shoop, Esq., of Philipsburg, had his pocket picked of a new silver watch on a train coming from Clearfield one day last week.

——A black bear weighing over 200 pounds was killed in the Seven mountains last week by J. C. Stover and Michael Kersteller.

——On last Saturday night our police force, headed by chief Fannon, made a descent on a disreputable house near the Spring. They arrested a woman named Mrs. Peck and a colored man whose name we did not learn, both of whom were lodged in jail on Mouday. Chief Fannon deserves the thanks of the community for closing up this filthiest and vilest hole in the borough.

——An exchange says: If a pail of water be placed within six inches either side of the stem of a pumpkin or vegetable marrow, it will in the course of the night approach it, etc. A still more wonderful phenomena may be observed in this village where a keg of lager beer, hid in a cellar, will cause dozens of men, to approach it if they have to climb fences, scale walls or sneak in through the back doors.

——General James A. Brisbin, of the regular army, son-in-law of Mr. D. M. Wagner of this place, was lately delegated by the Omaha Aid Society to make inquiry in regard to the condition of farmers in the western part of the state. After a three week's tour he returned with the sad intelligence that one third of the population of some half dozen counties were in an almost destitute condition, having lost their entire crops by the ravages of the grasshoppers.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Redmond Powers, father of Mr. John Powers the well known boot and shoe dealer, died very suddenly yesterday morning. While engaged in doing some mason work at the foundation of a new house near the residence of Mr. S. A. Bell near the Plaining Mill dam, he was suddenly taken with cramp and was carried to the residence of Mr. Murry Cunningham, his son-in-law, where he expired soon after. Deceased was about seventy years of age, and was one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the place.

All Brass Bands, seven in number, have been invited to compete for a Silver Horn, valued at $50.00.

——An unruly steer caused some excitement down street, on Tuesday afternoon. It was one of three which had been purchased by J. M. Holt & Bros. of Morrisdale Mines, and being driven to that place to be slaughtered. The driver had a rope tied to the animal's fore leg and drawn through a rope girt about its body, in order to manage it. But in some way the steer got the advantage of ground and tossed him against a fence. The lookers-on hastened to his rescue and succeeded in attracting the attention of the now furious beast, which pawed the ground and bellowed with rage. Fortunately the scene was upon the base ball ground, which they were crossing and not on any of the streets, and several marksmen hastened for their rifles to calm the animal with a dose of cold lead. Justice Shoop was the first to fire and succeeded in perforating an ear, which did not have a subduing effect upon the still defiant and aggressive bovine. Then Mr. Hemphill took careful aim and came pretty near knocking a horn off. Then Deputy Sheriff Dunkle deliberately drew a bead and fired missing the "critter," just where it had been hit before, and it was left for Mr. Hemphill to bring down the game with a fortunate shot. It was dressed on the spot, and the Centennial base ball grounds were for a time transformed into a slaughter house.—Philipsburg Journal.

——The Central Synod of the Lutheran Church, met at Aaronsburg on last Thurday, 24th, and was in session nearly a week. The attendance of ministers belonging to this body was almost full—some thirty preachers with their delegates being present. There were also present ministers belonging to other Synods. Quite a large number of spectators were present from all different parts of the county, to witness the proceedings and participate in the religious exercises. On Sunday morning the Lutheran and Reformed churches of Aaronsburg were filled to overflowing. Rev. Dr. Ziegler preached in the Luth. church, in the German language, and Rev. Heisler in the Reformed church. In the afternoon the Sabbath schools of the place assembled in the Lutheran church and the children were addressed by Rev's. Blackly, Hartsock and Anstatt, and a collection was taken up for the Orphan Mission school.—Reporter.

——We take pleasure in publishing the following resolutions adopted by the Baptist Church of Lock Haven in vindication of Rev. A. B. Runyan, the beloved pastor of the Baptist congregation at Milesburg. The reverend gentleman had been the subject of certain unfounded and slanderous reports which were evidently set afloat against him more for the purpose of creating a breach in the congregation of which he was lately the pastor, than to do him personal injury. Feeling that perhaps there might be a few persons who, not understanding the facts, might be inclined to give credence to these unjust imputations, we gladly set the trouble at rest by publishing the following commendatory resolutions passed by the congregation in Lock Haven of which he was the late pastor. We have documentary evidence in our possession that conclusively shows Mr. Runyan to be a faithful and earnest embassador of Christ and entirely and completely above suspicion. Here are the resolutions:

WHEREAS, certain evil reports have been circulated in a certain district of Centre County prejudicial to the christian character and doctrinal soundness of Rev. A. B. Runyan, a former pastor of this church, therefore

Resolved, 1st, That we resent, as a church, any and all such imputations which may be cast upon our beloved christian brother; and

2d, That as a christian minister of the Baptist denomination, we regard him as highly exemplary in his earnestness and faithfulness, and as a faithful exponent of the great truths which distinguish us as a church.

Adopted by the church Sept. 13, 1874.

JOHN BARNHART, Secretary.
C. E. BARTO, Pastor.

EXCURSION TICKETS FOR THE FAIR.—Arrangements have been made with the Penna. R. R. Co. whereby excursion tickets will be sold for the Fair of the Centre Co. Agricultural Society from all points on the Bald Eagle Valley, and Tyrone and Clearfield Branches, and on the main line from Huntington to Altoona, on October 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th, good for return trip until October 10th. 38—2t

——A drunken individual came bothering around some of Charley McCafferty's workmen at a building near the depot on Monday afternoon, threatening to thrash the whole party. The heroic individual was mistaken in his ability and spent the rest of the afternoon in crawling out of the mill-race and scraping the mud off his clothes.

——A thief at Milesburg stole a whip and valuable lap-rug from Mr. Wm. Montgomery's buggy, in front of McClain & Cook's store on last Friday evening.

——A game of base ball between the Howard club and Picked Nine of Lock Haven, resulted in a victory for the Howard club, score 26 to 21.

——Paper Collars at J. Welch's. A large lot of paper collars of all sizes will be sold at 10cts per box to close out the lot. 38-2t

Centaur Liniment

There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling they will not subdue, and no lameness which they will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. They have produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lock-jaw, palsy, sprains, swellings, caked-breasts scalds, burns, salt-rheum, earache, &c., &c., upon the huma frame, and of strains spavin, galls. &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. They are counter-irritant, all-healing pain reliever. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poisonous bites are endered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. The recipe is published around each bottle. They sell as no articles ever before sold, and they sell because they do just what they pretends to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling, deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for spavined or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw-worm in sheep. Sold by all Druggists. 50 cents per bottle; large bottles $1 00. J. B. ROSE & Co., 53 Broadway, New York.

CASTORIA is more than a substitute for Castor Oil. It is the only safe article in existence which is certain to assimilate the food, regulate the bowels, cure wind-colic and produce natural sleep. It contains neither minerals, morphine or alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and mothers may rest. 5-39-1y
